STRIKE SITUATION IN W. VA. CRITICAL

Martial Law Zone in Kanawha Coal Fields to Be Extended

THE FIRST FATAL SHOOTING

Soldier Fires on Attacking Party and Kills Miner—Attack Made by Miners at Burnwell, on Paint Creek

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 7.—That the strike situation in the Kanawha Valley coal fields, which has been under martial law for the past few days, is growing more complex is the report received tonight from those in close touch. It is said that union officials have been endeavoring to assist the State authorities in bringing about an adjustment of conditions, but have been impeded in their progress by lack of control of miners along the Kanawha and Michigan Railway on the north side of the Kanawha river.

It is thought that on account of this situation the martial law zone may have to be extended so as to take in that section.

The attacks on the militia on Friday night resulted in one death. It is known that a Burnwell, on Paint Creek, an attack was made by miners, but it is not known whether those who fired on the soldiers at Oakley were miners or mine guards. Early today Samuel Altman was killed by a soldier after he refused to halt. No one has been able up to a late hour to ascertain whether Altman was a miner or mine guard. Vice President Hayes, of the United Mine Workers, arrived on the scene today and will personally take charge of the miners' end of the controversy. The mine investigating committee also returned to the coal fields and is distributing a large number of blank forms to get an expression of opinion from the miners and operators as to the high cost of living, the expense of maintaining the guard system, wages and selling price of coal for the past three years.

The militia stationed near Oakley was again fired on tonight, but the military headquarters at Paint Creek up to a late hour had not been able to ascertain whether or not there had been any casualties. The scene of the shooting was at the same place where Samuel Altman was killed early today by a soldier.

Miner Killed by Soldier

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 7.—According to a report received here Officer George Long, Company B, shot and killed one of an attacking party while on picket duty near Sharon, in the Kanawha coal field today.

It is the first fatal shooting since martial law was declared by Governor Glasscock in the strike district. Long was on sentry duty near a wood and had been fired on a number of times from ambush. He noted the spot from which the bullets appeared to come and fired, killing one of the attacking party.

Shooting is also reported to have occurred at Burnwell, on Paint Creek, but details are not available as all wires into the trouble section have been cut. Additional troops have been hurried to Sharon and Burnwell.

STUDENTS' RECEPTION.

Twenty-fourth Session of A. & M. College Opens—200 New Men.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, Sept. 6.—On Thursday, September 5th, the 24th. session of A. & M. College was started. Up to the present time more than 200 new men have registered, and other are coming in on every train. Most of the old men have already returned, and others are expected during the next few days. From present indications there will be the largest enrollment this year in the history of the college.

On Friday night the annual "Students' night" celebration was held in Pullen Hall. This is an occasion given during the opening week each year under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., the object being to bring the old and new student together, and giving them an opportunity to become acquainted. A few short speeches were made by several citizens of Raleigh, members of the faculty and come of the students. Songs and yells were given by the student body, after which refreshments were served.

SETTLEMENT POSTPONED

Railroad Conference Will Make Another Effort Wednesday

Washington, Sept. 7.—After a brief conference today between representatives of the 13,000 trainmen on the Southern railroads and officials of the lines, further consideration of the demands of the men was deferred until next Wednesday. It was hoped that before the question of a strike was taken up seriously by the men some agreement might be reached and the postponement of further conferences was made to permit of another canvass of the situation. The men demand an increase in wages and other concessions, much of which are declared by the railroad companies to be exorbitant and unreasonable.

State Troops Rushed To Prevent Clash Between Whites and Blacks—Negro Talked Too Freely

Cumming, Ga., Sept. 7.—Two companies of State troops were rushed here today by Governor Brown to prevent impending trouble between the white and negro inhabitants growing out of the severe beating administered to Grant Smith, a negro preacher, on the public square because of alleged insulting remarks reflecting upon the women of this place. The blacks had threatened to dynamite the town if any negroes were lynched, but after the troops arrived the situation became quiet at a late hour today. Martial law was in effect tonight.

The negroes were arrested today, charged with attempting assault upon a white woman Thursday night five miles from this place. They were brought to prison here. There was no excitement until Smith expressed his opinion, whereupon a crowd set upon him and beat him almost into insensibility.

He was rescued by the officers and locked up in the vault at the Court House.

There were threats of lynching, followed by rumors from a negro picnic and barbecue near town, of plots for dynamiting the town in the event any negroes were lynched. Excitement spread and the town filled rapidly with white men from outlying districts and negroes from the barbecue. The officials immediately appealed to Gov. Brown with the result that one company from Gainesville and another from Marietta were rushed here in automobiles, arriving shortly after noon.

Leaving thirteen militiamen on guard the troops left for Marietta, Ga., tonight, taking Grant Smith, the negro preacher and five negroes arrested as suspects in connection with the attempted assault on a white woman Thursday.

"THINKS TOO MUCH OF MONEY."

Mr. Klein Writes on Evils Resulting From "False Pride."

Editor Star:—I notice in your issue of yesterday an article entitled "Thinks Too Much of Money," and signed "Answers," hence I presume an answer is in order and acceptable. The writer undoubtedly has the proper conception, and it is deplorable that the current state of society does not permit the realization of this conception. In judging conditions we must judge the past and present. Our present condition can be rightly termed rapid, and while capidity is admirable when confined to commercial and educational advances, yet when it applies to the idle fopperies of the hour it becomes a social menace, and carries in its wake domestic ruin.

I fully coincide with the writer that it is unfortunate that it has become a matter of compulsion for the average aspirant to marriage to hesitate, inasmuch as we have been taught that those who hesitate are lost, but I would judge from present conditions that those who hesitate decidedly gain.

I think I fully grasp the writer's idea, that the prevailing spirit or pride, and a pride that is surely false, desiring an equal footing with a more fortunate compeer, is largely due to the false conditions arising from the more false and more sadly foolish idea of so-called social prestige, which the poor desire to share with the rich. While a partial fault may exist on the part of the man, the greater fault restes with the women. The man hesitates because of the fickleness of the latter, and the latter, taught a degree of inward indolence, naturally cause her to seek, regardless of devotion, some one to gratify these special desires, and the price paid for its gratification brings with it endless and most acute misery, and finally results in the divorce courts.

Let the average woman emulate, at least to a degree the life of her parents I mean by this the passing generation, realizing fully the grave responsibility attached to marriage, and equally bearing in mind that inward worth is in many instances more conducive to domestic happiness than the shallow displays of wealth, and its atending forces. M. T. KLEIN,

HAVE ASHEVILLE MURDERER

The Real John Huff Captured at Greenville, S. C.,—The Crime.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 7.—Sheriff Williams received information this morning that the authorities of Greenville, S. C., had captured negro whom they and local officers think is the real John Huff, the man who murdered Patrolman E. C. McConnell here over a year ago. There were two long telephone conversations with Greenville officers and from the minute description given the sheriff thinks there can be little doubt but the negro in the man wanted. He will be brought here tonight. He was captured in a dark corner at an illicit distillery. Moss Brower, who is suspected of being John Huff is still in jail here. He was arraigned for murder several weeks ago, but there was a mistrial.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Chairman Clapp of the Senate committee investigation campaign funds and Senator Pomerene, a member of the committee, will spend some time tomorrow discussing further plans for the committee's investigation. They were have to have considerered the committee's programme today, but at the last moment deferred their conference until Sunday.

STRONG NOMINEE, SAYS GOV. WILSON

McAdoo Also Thinks Well of New York's Progressive Candidate

IN CONFERENCE AT SEA GIRT

Gov. Wilson Refrains From Discussing Gubernatorial Situation in New York—Resist Tammany's Dictation.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 7.—Strong praise for tse nomination of Oscar S. Straus as the Progressive party's gubernatorial candidate in New York came from both Gov. Wilson and Vice-chairman Wm. G. McAdoo, of the Democratic National Committee, who were in conference here tonight.

"The nomination is an admirable one and will put us on our mettle," the Governor had remarked earlier in the day. Mr. McAdoo said tonight: great many years and have the great- " I have known Mr. Straus for a est admiration for him personaly as well as for his ability. The nomination is both strong and admirable."

The Governor has repeatedly refrained from discussing the Democratic gubernatorial situation in New York State and would not alter his course today. It is known, however, that he is looking forward with keen interest to the outcome of the State convention at Syracuse on October 1st. Not one definite word has escaped him as to his attiude, but some of his intimate advisers are known to hold the belief that his friends in New York would resist any attempt on the part of the Tammany organization or any other to dictate the gubernatorial nomination.

A definite exposition of Gov. Wilson's views on the New York situation may be made when he addresses the association of Democratic county chairman at Syracuse next Thursady.

Mr. McAdoo said with regard to his visit to the Governor tonight that they had talked over new speaking dates and it had been decided that the Governor would attend the national conservation congress at Indianapolis in October on the 3rd or 4th.

Favors Progressive Nomination.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 7.—Governor Wilson today, commenting upon the selection of Oscar S. Straus for Gubernatorial candidate of New York said: "Its an admirable ticket and an admiral platform," said the Governor. "It will put us on our mettle."

The Governor was asked if he favored the nomination of Progressive Democratis for Governors and State offices throughout the country, including New York State. "That goes without saying," he replied. The Governor received a photograph today showing T. O. Gillum and eight sons of Madison Mills, Va., in the costume of a baseball nine . Each enclosed one dollar as a campaign contribution.

TEDDY ASSAILS COPPER CO.

Bull Moose Says Amalgamated Is Gunning For Him—Greets Old Friends of His Cow Puncher Days in Montana.

Billings, Mont., Sept. 7.—The Amalgamated Copper Company was assailed by Col. Roosevelt today in his campaign through Montana. He said he knew last Spring the company would do all that it could do to defeat him for the Republican nomination and it would have benefitted him none to come out here.

"You had no direct primary in this State," he said in his speech here, "and I knew perfectly well the Amalgamated Copper Company would do me if it got the chance. When I can appeal to the people themselves I do so. But when the appeal has to be made to politicians I know there is no use for me to make it. The only way I can beat the politician is with a club."

On his way across Mantana Col. Roosevelt greeted old friends of the days when he was a cow puncher along the Little Missouri. At Forsythe there were six whom he knew 30 years ago. Mr. Roosevelt arose before 7 o'clock, while the other members of his party were still sleeping, because, he said he thought sonme of "the boys" might be on hand at Miles City to see him. They were there and they had a band.

A ranchman from Medora, where Col. Roosevelt spent some time in his youth, called out, "Say, do you remember Medora?"

"Do I?" the Colonel called back. "Say do I remember New York?"

"There's nothing left of it but a hole in the ground and two logs now," the ranchman responded.

They gave Col. Roosevelt a real wild west welcome after he had finished talking to the crowd on what the Progressive party proposed to do to help this part of the country, and especially by irrigation.

Half a dozen cow punchers drew their revolvers and fired a salute. The Colonel waved his hands in delight.

LETTER FROM REV. E. B. CARR.

Astonishing Facts in Wilmington Presbytery—Church Manse Funds

What are the facts? Just let me tell you. We have a church and manse building league fund in Wilmington Presbytery, to the amount of about $275.00 or more; but on our last call, three months ago, which was for Powell's chapel, Sampson county, N. C., Mrs. Jackson Johnson informs me that she had actually received of this amount for Powell's Chapel, the sum of $90.25. She has been requested to send out a duplicante call to those delinquent brethern, who fail to respond. Some of these brethern tell us they did not answer this call, because they failed to get their mail, but brethern it seems a little suspicious that so many of them failed to get their mail on this last call. Perhaps we ought to get Uncle Sam to investigate matters, for fear that some of these good brethern might loose a fortune in some important letter, by failing to get their mail.

Furthermore, Currie church or Chapel is now about framed up, and Presbytery has granted us a call to help complete the building, and this call is due to be issued sometime in October, or the first of November. Now brethern, we earnestly hope that every member of the Building league fund in Wilmington Presbytery will get their mail and respond promply.

Oh, may the good people of Wilmington Presbytery awake from their sleep, and open their eyes, ears, hearts, and pocketbooks, and let the money to these calls roll this way.

Yours Very Sincerely,
E. B. CARR.

OUTLINES

Intervention in Mexico is nearer than it has been since the sending of American troops to the border 18 months ago, and if it becomes necessary to send troops across the line President Taft will convene Congress in extra session to get authority for the act.

All the Democratic Presidential candidates before the Baltimore convention have been appointed as the advisory committee to the National Committee.

Col. Roosevelt spent yesterday campaigning in Montana and greeted old friends of his cow-puncher days.

Two companies of State troops were rushed to Cumming, Ga., yesterday to prevent a threatened race war between the white people and negroes, who declared they would dynamite the town.

The strike situation in the Kanawha coal fields was extremely critical last night and as a result of clashes between troops and miners one of the latter was killed.

Strong praise for the nomination of Oscar S. Straus by the Progressive party in New York came from Governor Wilson and Vice Chairman McAdoo last night.

President Taft gave most of his time yesterday to a discussion of the political situation in various States with several National committeemen who called on him at Beverly.

Five hundred Mexican rebels are marching on Agua Prieta and will attack the town today.

MAY GIVE ORDERS TO INVADE MEXICO

If Intervention is Necessary Taft Will Convene Congress.

WOULD DO IT RELUCTANTLY

It Has Been Charged That Taft Might Make Himself a "War President" To Bring Victory in November

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 7.—Although President Taft will not intervene in Mexico without the fullest deliberation upon a step that would mean war, his friends declared tonight that intervention is nearer than it has been since the first American troops were rushed to the border, 18 months ago. It can be stated on the highest authority, however, that should the President decide that intervention is the only course open to him he will convene Congress in special session and demand of it the authority to send the American army across the border.

Friends of the President realize that he would give the order to invade Mexico only with the greatest reluctance. They are aware that it already has been charged by Senators that the President might send the army across the line, make himself a "war President" and rely upon that to bring victory to himself and the Republican party in November.

Mr. Taft said that such a statement is utterly without foundation.

More Regiments Dispatched

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 7.—The President today authorized General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, U. S. A., to dispatch two more regiments of cavalry to the Texas border. So far as the President was informed there will be no immediate need for more troops in Texas, but conditions along that border have grown worse in the last few weeks.

It is in the southern part of Mexico, however, that the President has learned of intolerable conditions affecting Americans. There the Medero government, according to the Washington information, is utterly unable to cope with the revolutionists and there seems to be little prospect that the situation will improve.

The President within the past few days has communicated a demand that President Madero be more active in the protection of Americans. He is hopeful that this reminder, meant for the ears of the Mexican President, and for the Mexican Foreign Office, as well, will be fruitful of results in both Southern and Northern Mexico.

The only feasible plan for protection of Americans in the South, Mr. Taft has been told, would be to send troops to some gulf port of Mexico.

The trouble is in the interior and the landing of troops in a Mexican port would mean intervention and war. There is no such opportunity in the South of Mexico to display troopers in force and thereby instill respect for the United States as there has been along the Texas frontier.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Raleigh Real Estate Man Killed There Last Night.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 7.—L. M. Hamilton, a well-to-do real estate dealer, was killed tonight by a Seaboard Air Line freight train near the switches that turn passenger trains into the Union Station. His head was terribly crushed and both arms were broken. The eye witness says he was walking between the Seaboard and Southern tracks in the glare of a passenger train headlight.

Hamilton was seen by J. J. Hagwood to turn about as the freight train approached and, he said, stepped toward the Seaboard track, was knocked down and instantly killed. He had a roast of beef. Hamilton has a wife and several children. He lived in Releigh a number of years ago and went to Norfolk. Recently he came back here and had purchased nine Boylan Height lots and will build on one of them. He also has property in or near Salma. He was about 40 years old.

PENNANT TO ROANOKE

Tigers Win Rag in Virginia League By Two Points.

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 7.—Not until the eight inning of the last game of the season was the Virgina League pennant race decided. Roanoke and Petersburg split a double-header. Roanoke, by bunching hits on Creiger, who had relieved Vance, scored two runs and followed with a double off Brooks, who replaced Creiger for a third run, clinching the game 4 to 1. Petersburg was in first place for a few minutes today, having beaten Roanoke in the first game, 6 to 1, by batting Gardin and Green out of the box. Roanoke wins the pennant by a two point margin over Petersburg. Richmond, in first place 10 days ago, finished third. The standings are, Roanoke .596, Petersburg .594, Richmond .579. Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News, the remaining teams, finished in order.

The race just ended is the closest in the six years of the league's history. Every club but Newport News has been in first place at some time during the season.

BIG TIMBER DEAL.

Large Tract in Three Eastern Counties—News Notes of Kinston.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 5.—A transaction involving more than $300,000 was completed here when a transfer of the property of the Ellington-Bryant Timber Company and the Kinston Maunfacturing Company was made to J. S. Deal and sons, Ray and Thurman Deal, of Norfolk, Va. Prior to the transfer of the Ellington-Bryant Company's holdings to the Deals its property, which consists of some 125,000,000 feet of standing timber in Lenior, Jones and Duplin counties, was transferred to the Kinston Manufacturing Company, and by the latter to J. S. Deal & Sons. After the transfer of the property had been completed, a new company was organized and incorporated, with J. S. Deal president, Thurman Deal vice-president and and Ray Deal secretary-treasurer, and G. V. Cowper, Esq., resident director. The new conern will operate the large lumber plant heretofore operated by the Kinston Maunfacturing Company. The mill is one of the most modern and best equipped of its kind in eastern Carolina, and has a large daily capacity. It has been operated for several years past with R. M. Ellington as manager and principal owner. The timber holdings of the Ellington-Bryant Company, the related corporation, consists of some of the finest standing timber in this section of the State. They are located in the vicinity of Pink Hill, in the three counties above named. The mill plant is served by the Kinston-Carolina Railroad, which taps the territory in which the lumber is located.

During the month of August the Kinston tobacco market sold just a few hundred pounds less than 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco. The market opeed on the 15th, hence this amount was sold in two weeks. The average price paid was 13 cents, making a total of about $195,000 paid out for the staple in the fortnight.

Today at Hebron church, in Duplin county, there was a big picnic and educational rally, at which Hon. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, delivered the principal address. Mr. Joyner arrived in this city at 8:04 this morning and was driven out to Hebron church in an automobile by Hon. N. J. Rouse. A number of people attended from Kinston, and the hospitable people of that section had made ample preparations for the large crowd which was present from points for many miles around.

Excitement prevailed for a while on North Independent street last night, when a supposedly rabid dog was run down and despatched by citizens of the neighborhood, which is in the northeastern suberb of Kinston. The frightened canine took to the potato field of J. E. Dupree, where it was shot and killed.

The school officials of Kinston are confronted by an annoying problem, and according to Superintendent Underwood, the people will certinly have to invest in another building before the end of 12 month. The limit of expanison within the present quarters will be reached and exceeded this year. The enrollment in the white schools last year was 912, and it will reach 1,000 this year, in all probability. There are at present, by actual count, seats for only 836 pupils. About a third of these are double desks a large percentage of which are in a very bad state of repair and far too many of them are not suited to the size of the pupils using them. The same conditions prevail at the colored school building, even to a greater degree. The enrollment there last year was over 600, by actual count there were, on several days last year, more than 500 children packed into desk room for about 200, said Mr. Underwood.

His Point of Anxiety.

MORE TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO BORDER

Taft Orders Two Regiments of Cavalry to Mexican Boundary

MADERO'S FORCES IN TEXAS

Mexican President Asks Permission to Send His Men Across the Line To Attack Rebeli Marauding Parties

Washington, Sept. 7.—A marked development occurred today attaching a more serious nature to the condition of affairs on the Texas-Mexican border.

President Taft ordered two full regiments of cavalry to the border line and the Madero government contemplated asking permission of the United States to transport its loyal troops through Texas and New Mexico to attack the scattered bands of marauding rebels falling across the line, attacking American ranches and stealing cattle.

After Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, had talked over the telephone with President Taft at Beverly, the 13th Cavalry from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, and the 9th Cavalry from Fort Riley, Kansas, were put under rush orders to join the border patrol. The President made it plain that under no circumstances were the troops to cross the line and that he still regarded intervention as an act of the very last resort.

Troop C, of the Third Cavalry, was ordered to the neighborhood of last night's skirmish on the Victoria ranch, and Troop B, Fourth Cavalry, was ordered from Fort Huachuca to Arivaca, Arizona, to strengthen the border patrol there. The President authorized the export of 500 rifles and 150,000 rounds of ammunition to the beleaguered Americans in the Cananea district.

The United States probably would send troops through Texas and New Mexico into Northern Chihuahua.

Inasmuch as the State Department has demanded that Mexico send Federal troops into North Mexico to protect Americans, it is assumed that the United States will co-operate with Madero's effort to do so. The Mexican Congress, however, must first authorize the sending of troops out of its country. This was done in the Madero rebellion.

ANDERSON WON THE SERIES

Carolina Champions Took Yesterday's Game From All-Stars, 4 to 1, and Made It Three Out Of Five

Timely sticking in the pinches, coupled with air-tight pitching on the part of Hogue, gave Anderson, champions of the Carolina Association, the last game of the post-season series with the All-Stars of the same company, at League Park yesterday, 4 to 1, Manager Ramsey's merry troopers incidentally winning the series between the two teams. Only two hits were made off Hogue's delivery, one of these coming in the ninth and counting the only tally annexed by the All-Star aggregation. Frey, who pitched for the picked team, gave a fairly good exhibition of twirling, but Anderson connected safely with his delivery when hits meant runs. The Champs garnered 11 bingles during the nine innings. The game was played in exactly one hour.

While nothing of the spectacular was pulled off, Owens, Gleischman and Haddow gave some pretty fielding exhibitions, their fast work cutting down the scoring.

During the game a collection was taken up for Catcher Callahan, the Anderson player who fractured his leg in Thursday's contest. The fans responded liberally and something over $37 was realized.

Yesterday's game concluded the series between the Anderson and All-Star teams, the former winning three out of five. The All-Stars took the first, Anderson the second; a double-header was split by identical scores Friday, and the Champs forged ahead by winning yesterday.

The members of the All-Star team left for their various homes yesterday, while the Anderson pastimers remain in the city till this morning. Manager Ramsey received a message from President Furman Smith yesterday asking him to hold his team together, pending advices from the winner of the Virginia League in regard to a post-season series.

Negotiations were in progress with Petersburg, Va., for a post-season series in the event they won the pennant, but Roanoke broke even in a double-header with Petersburg yesterday and finished the season one-half game ahead. It is understood that the pennant winners of the Virginia League will probably not play the leaders of the Carolina Association, and the Anderson team will disband unless some other series is arranged for them.

How the Runs Were Made

The solitary run that went to the All-Stars came in the ninth after two men were down. Haddow hit a Texas leaguer over second, Owens, Crompton and Fittery going after it, and permitting the ball to fall safe. Lister doubled to right field fence, scoring Haddow. Red Stewart was an easy out.

Anderson tallied two in the third and one each in the seventh and eighth. After two men had been disposed of in the third, Hogue and Kelly got on with singles through short, and Laval counted both pastimers with a stinging triple to the left field boards. In the seventh Owens hit through short and Damrau, who had received free transportation to first, scored when Stewart threw over third to catch him sliding into the bag. Hogue, the heavy hitting slabbist of the Champs, opened the eighth with a double to left center and was caught at third when Kelly attempted to sacrifice him. Laval sent Kelly to third with a single and Crompton drove one through short, Kelly scoring.

The line-up in yesterday's contest was changed considerably from the other games, the same players working, but in new positions. Although threatening weather kept the attendance down at nearly all of the games, those who ventured out saw some good exhibitions of the great American game. At times, however, it was in and out baseball. Jack Hoey held the indicator during the entire series and was fully up to requirements.

The tabulated score follows:

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

Mr. Matt J. Heyer, of Wilmington, is spending some days at the Hanover Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alban B. Pleasants, of Wilmington, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whyte, on the Beach Extension.

Mayor Thos. H. Wright, of Wrightsville Beach, has gone to Toxaway, in the western part of the State, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Yates and little daughter, Rena, returned yesterday to their apartments in The Carolina, after spending a week at the Hanover Inn.

Miss Lucy Primrose Whyte, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whyte, who are spending the Summer at the beach, returned last night from a visit to New York city.

Arrivals yesterday at the Hanover Inn included: S. T. Buchanan, Andrew Buchanan, Piedmont, S. C.; A. C. Travis, W. L. Ison, Atlanta; J. McRae Dalton, Winston-Salem.

Mr. Thos. S. Kenan, of Atlanta, Ga., is a guest at the Oceanic Hotel. He is a brother of Graham Kenan, Esq., of the Wilmington bar, and has been pleasantly greeted by many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Phillips and daughter, Miss Margaret Phillips, expect to leave tomorrow for their home at Suffolk, Va., after a stay of two weeks at the Seashore Hotel.

The usual Sunday afternoon and evening concerts will be given at Lumina today. Attractive programmes have been arranged for the concerts and it is expected that about the usual number of people from the city will visit the pavilion in the afternoon and evening.

Yesterday's Greensboro News: "Miss Elizabeth Westbrook returned yesterday from Wrightsville accompaned by her father, S. W. Westbrook, and sister, Miss Emie Westbrook.—William Dodson returned yesterday from an extended trip to Wrightsville Beach and Wilmington."

Among the arrivals yesterday at the Oceanic Hotel were: Fred Miller, Cincinnati; Ed. M. McConky, Baltimore; T. H. Epes, Richmond; V. J. McDaniel, Chas. E. Wood, Charlotte; J. Stone, Albany, N. Y.; W. P. Hall, Philadelphia; G. A. Selby Baltimore; C. J. Hoffman, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. McMahon, Louisville, Ky.; W. E. Snow, New York; W. H. Baker, Richmond.

Another of the souvenir dances which have proven so popular at Lumina will be given Tuesday night. Among the many smaller souvenirs to be given away will be concealed a number of handsome brooches; these will be in packages of the same size and appearance of the smaller and less valuable souvenirs, and there is always much speculation as to whom the lucky prize will fall. These prize dances have always proven a great drawing card and will no doubt draw well on Tuesday night.

The usual concerts will be given at Lumina this afternoon and tonight, the afternoon concert beginning at 4 P. M. and the night concert at 8:30 P. M. The programme for the night concert includes "The Crucifix," by Faure; "Apple Blossoms," by Roberts; selections from "Miss Nobody from Starland." The features of the night concert will be a violin solo by Mr. Kneisel, and a trombone solo, by Mr. Cox. "Pinaforo" melodies, "La Paloma" are among the numbers on the programme for the night concert. The complete programme will be found published in the advertising columns of this paper.

The Star yesterday received the following contribution from a musician: "Listen to the whistle. In going to and from the beach it is customary for the trolley cars to salute each other when meeting by blowing their whistles. These whistles are practically of the same pitch, approximately that of 'E,' international pitch, yet when both trains are moving the whistle on the approaching car sounds nearly half a tone higher. This is probably due to the excessive number of vibrations (per sound) reaching the ear from the rapidly-approaching car, as when both trains are at a standstill and the whistles are blown they will be found at the same pitch, or varying only slightly. The faster the trains are moving the greater will be the apparent difference in pitch."

THE RECORDER'S COURT

Negro Convicted of Whiskey-Selling—Other Cases Yesterday

The most important case tried in the Recorder's court yesterday morning was that against John Barber, colored, charged with violation of the prohibition law. The negro was found guilty of selling whiskey and was sentenced to three months on the county roads. When he gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court the Recorder withdrew the sentence and left the case open. It is said that if the appeal is taken the sentence will be made considerably heavier than three months. Bond was fixed at $200 and in default of this the negro went to jail.

Plainclothes Officer Frank George was the chief witness against Barber. He testified that he saw the negro sell half pint flasks of whiskey to two different parties, unknown to him. Other corroborative evidence was introduced by the State.

Henrietta Jones, colored, was found guilty of vagrancy and sentenced to 30 days on the county farm. Jesse Howard, colored, convicted of an affray, was fined $5 and costs. Walter Barnes, white, was charged with violating the automobile law, but when it was found that he was not the man wanted the case was dismissed.

The case against Mattie Allen, white, charged with violating the prohibition law, was continued until tomorrow, and two cases against August Boecker, charging him with selling imported beer, were continued until Tuesday. Boecker yesterday waived examination on a similar charge before Justice Harriss and this case, too, will come up in the Recorder's court Tuesday. Edward McNeill, colored, charged with violating the prohibition law, will also be tried Tuesday, according to present plans.

"JESSE JAMES."

Saturday Night Attraction at Academy of Music Last Evening.

"Jesse James" was the attraction at the Academy of Music last night, and was witnessed by a very fair audience, considering the warm and sultry weather. The play made no claim to being anything more than a melodrama and that it was, most assuredly, making up in action whatever it lost in finesse of plot or superior work on the part of the cast. The audience, and especially those in the balcony, seemed to enjoy the play very much. The play carried a very good band and orchestra.

FIVE REBELS KILLED.

American Troopers Engage Band of Mexicans Under Salazar.

Douglas, Arizona, Sept. 6.—Mexican rebels crossed the boundary and were engaged by United States soldiers on the Lang ranch, 50 miles east of Douglas, according to a report received here tonight.

Fourteen American troopers held back 25 rebels, killed five and wounding one of the Mexicans, it is reported. The rebels are believed to be in command of Salazar.

The Senatorship and the Democratic Party

Editor of The Star:—

It is doubtful that the policy of attacking each other, which seems to have been adopted by some of the Senatorial candidates, is beneficial to the parties using such methods, and certainly this policy is not beneficial to the Democratic party. As all the candidates are Democrats, the proper method for Democrats to pursue is to obtain the actual facts.

If Senator Simmons has been persistently voting with the Republican party, it can be ascertained by taking the record of his votes, independently of colored statements. The following is a table of how the Democratic Senators voted on the reciprocity and tariff bills during the first session of the 62nd Congress, and anyone, by analyzing this statement, which is found on page 57 of Senate Document No. 275, can ascertain the facts. The official statement is printed by order of the Senate, and is as follows:

x Resigned.

The Republicans were in the majority in the Senate; and by a comparison of these figures it can be ascertained which Senators voted with the Republican majority the greater number of times. It will be seen that such Progressives as Culberson voted with the Republican majority 17 times; Gore 22 times; Kern (Bryan's intimate friend and running mate), 20 times; O'Gorman 17 times; Overman 24 times; John Sharp Williams 24 times; F. M. Simmons 11 times. Hence we see that the most progressive Democrats of the country voted with the Republican majority oftener than did Senator Simmons.

This record ought to be a test without any unnecessary abuse by the respective candidates of each other.

Further, if this method is persisted in by all of the candidates, we will forget, by November, that we are fighting the Republicans; and there is no candidate against whom charges cannot be made. It has not been forgotten that Governor Kitchen on the 27th day of May, 1898, was in Raleigh at the State Convention urging the Democratic party to fuse with Marion Butler and his followers and to divide offices with them, while Senator Simmons led the opposition and defeated the proposition. It is also known that in 1896 Judge Clark accepted the nomination from the Republicans, was elected to the Supreme Court bench, and without Republican votes could not have been elected, while Judge Connor, and other Democrats, refused to accept such nomination, and that the distinguished Judge wrote many intimate letters to Gov. Russell, during his administration, commonly known as the "please burn" letters. It is also known that Collier's Weekly, which is fighting Senator Simmons, defamed the Southern women in 1898 and defended the negro Manly, who had to be driven out of Wilmington by Southern gentlemen in order to preserve our civilization, and that the same Collier's Weekly, in 1908, contained matter in its editorial columns reflecting on the virtue of the Southern women, which periodical was severely condemned throughout the South, and the Order of Elks, at Newbern, N. C., passed resolutions condemning it.

In 1898 the above influences were opposed to Senator Simmons, whose policy was to fight the enemy and make no terms with him; and the same influences are now questioning Senator Simmons' Democracy.

Ignoring the welfare of the Democratic party, these attacks, against each other, by the Democratic candidates, might be justified; but no Democrat, who places the party's welfare above the personal ambition of some individual, will question the fact that all the candidates are Democrats, and that the Democratic party has approved their course and conduct in elections and conventions, and the candidate who may be nominated will be entitled to the undivided support and confidence of the Democratic party. We are getting too near election day to fight among ourselves, and if the three candidates for the United States Senatorship, and even Collier's Weekly—as bad as it has been—can render any service to the Democratic party, let's have that service, and we will win a victory in November which the Republicans will never forget.

Yours truly,
J. O. CARR.

Chronic Ulcers Mean Bad Blood

If outside influences were responsible for chronic ulcers, then external applications and simple cleanliness would be a curative treatment. But the trouble is always in the blood which has become unhealthy and diseased, and keeps the sore open by continually discharging into it the impurities and infectious matter with which the circulation is filled. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may cause the place to scab over temporarily, but the blood is not made purer by such treatment and soon the old inflammation and discharge will return and the sore be as bad or worse than before. Nor will removing the place by surgical operation insure a cure; the cause still remains in the blood and the sore is bound to return. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down into the blood and removing the impurities and germs which are responsible for the place. S. S. S. thoroughly purifies the circulation and in this way destroys the source of every chronic ulcer. In addition to purifying the blood S. S. S. enriches this vital fluid and in every way assists nature in overcoming the bad effects of a chronic ulcer. A House Talk with the Housewife

You and your husband have been talking "home buying" for some time.

You haven't found anything that just suited you.

In some cases the house suited you but the neighborhood was undesirable, or the lot was small, or did not lay well.

Or perhaps the location was bad, from a sanitary standpoint.

You don't want a home in a district so congested or unsanitary that the air is not fit to breathe.

You don't want a boarding house, a store or a factory next door to you, do you?

You don't want your husband to lose a few thousand dollars on a fine home (if you SHOULD want to sell) because some fellow with a little money had built a shack next door to you.

The ONLY WAY to get rid—permanently rid—of these objectionable features is to get your home in a RESTRICTED district.

There are some additional desirable features though which you should INSIST on.

You want a good-sized lot.

You want plenty of room for the children to play in and for the flowers to grow.

You do want a bed of nasturtiums, a clump of roses and the bright row of sweet peas.

You want room for a little vegetable garden all your own.

You do want the freshest air to be had, and pure artesian water free from all malarial and typhoid germs.

You do want a perfect sewerage system that will insure perfect health for your loved ones.

You want a lot that is in line with the city's future development—which is SURE to increase in value with each succeeding year.

You want a location neither too close in to the congested city, nor too far out.

And—above all things else—you want attractive homes and congenial neighbors ALL AROUND YOU.

You do want all these things, and a lot more.

Then THIS is what you ought to do:

Have your husband take you out to Sunset Park—the Sub-Division Beautiful—the Sub-Division that was STARTED RIGHT.

The Greenfield car—new rapid schedule—takes you to the Lake, then it's a short walk of only three blocks down the new Federal Point road to Sunset Park.

You will find there all the good things we have described above — and the many other features you would want.

Sunday, September 8, 1912.

A free lunch cuts more ice than the free list.

The woman in the case is always the principal figure.

Swat where the fly hatches as soon as he, she or it goes into Winter quarters.

Taft and the middlemen are in the same class when it comes to being swatted by all the swatters.

The petty jealousies in a small town are almost as amusing as the exhibition of hard feelings in a church choir.

Talk about Locke Craig "settling the hash of Tom Settle," he won't do a thing but wipe up the floor with the Bull Moose Waiser.

"All things come to him who waits" to see a fight between the Bull Moose and the big elephant as it will be pulled off in North Carolina.

Men who are overly anxious to head the procession don't hesitate to snatch the banner away from a brother and leave him in the ditch. Ambition has both selfishness and meanness in it.

Countries would have very few troubles if it weren't for men who get them in trouble. Many a so-called statesman belongs in a class with Jonah, who was the first to "come back."

The National Republican campaign book for 1912 is out. By thunder, it will make Roosevelt mad. It mentions Taft but there is no mention of him. He will take it as a maliciously deliberate and evily concocked slight.

Don't butt into an irresistible moving body like an automobile. The chauffeur will blame you with carlessness. Even so, to butt into a political quarrel and fan the air with a boomerang is nothing less than reckless.

The circulation of the United States is now $3,276,786,613, or a per capita of $34.26 to each man, woman and child of the 95,626,000 population of this country. Most of us have the 26 cents. Who has our $34?

The British Association for the Advancement of Science claims that demonstrations show that life can be produced by chemical process. We'll bet those British experimenters have never produced a living creature in any particular as pretty as an American chemical blond.

Jane Addams told Teddy as how the census report shows that nearly 1,500,000 women are entitled to vote in California, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho. That was all the argument necessary to suddenly make him a suffragette as well as a Third Termer.

Incidentally, Governor Woodrow Wilson favored the use of school houses for different kinds of neighborhood meetings. The suggestion looked so all-fired good to the Bull Moose that he threw the hooks into it and is dragging it around as an amendment to his "confession of faith."

A New Jersey woman and a man were contestants for the postmastership in their town but the woman seemed to have the most friends and pulled the plum. It turned out just as her opponent desired, for he was engaged to the woman. They will run the office together.

The Third Termer says Wilson tried to quote him on the tariff but was unsuccessful. For a fact, Dr. Wilson attempted the impossible. He may be adept at solving a logarithm but not at unraveling a riddle. Why does not the Third Termer make an understandable statement of his bow-legged stand on the tariff?

THE FREE TRADE BOGIE

The free list idea as a Democratic proposition is exploded so far as it goes as a general policy. It is only incidental or circumstantial to both the Democratic and Republican policies, but as to the Bull Moose party we are not prepared to speak. We are pretty good guessers, however, and we guess the protective tariff Roosevelt party stands on the free list precisely where the Republican party stands.

The Republican and Democratic parties are free list parties incidentally. The Democratic party favors the putting of commodities on the free list for the benefit of producers and consumers, while the Republican party favors free raw material for manufacturers whose finished products are highly protected. Free raw material for protected manufacturers gives them double benefits. They get their raw material duty free and the government gets no revenue on such material, while they receive the full benefit of protection for their finished product. The raw material of the South is a Republican favorite for the free list.

The Democratic party is a tariff for revenue party, and, according to its splendid Baltimore platform, it proposes to gradually, safely and sanely reduce the tariff to a strictly revenue basis, the reduction plan being so considerate that no interest will be radically affected and no industry be injured by any revolutionary process. The Democratic party has gotten back to its sound position on the tariff, for it is significant that the platform does not propose to put anything on the free list. It even abandoned the Aldrich proposition to put lumber on the free list for the benefit of the Canadian timber syndicate composed of Americans who got rich sawing in a protected market on this side and who wanted to get richer by sawing on the Canadian side and shipping their lumber to the United States without paying the government a dollar in revenue. A great many people will be surprised to know that the Aldrich bill as first proposed put lumber on the free list.

The New York Tribune and other Republican papers, for political purposes, are doing their best to injure Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party by flaunting the bogie of free trade. When Dr. Wilson declares that free trade is not an issue in this campaign they point to some of his speeches in which he favors the free list in some particulars where it would benefit producers and consumers. They would prove that he is a free trader whether or not, but when he is making votes by promising the people relief from the burdens of the tariff those same papers say he is deceiving them with revision promises only, intimating that the Democratic party cannot be expected to reduce the tariff according to promise. Thus on the one hand they would make it appear that the Democratic party is for free trade, while on the other it can't be trusted to reduce the tariff. They frighten consumers by telling them that they will get no free list, and scare protectionists by warning them that about the whole list will be free. Dr. Wilson "said something" the other day in his New York speech when he said this about the free trade bogie:

"There are circumstances in this country which render it absolutely impossible in our time, I dare say, that we should have free trade. ..* ..* ..* When people talk to you about the danger of free trade and the folly of the free trader, do not be afraid that you will meet a free trader in the dark anywhere, because there is not any free trader who can get abroad in America at present."

Dr. Wilson knows how to floor his hypocritical opponents. The Democratic candidate is aware that if the Democratic party gets in power it will have to levy a tariff to raise $1,000,000,000 to pay the expenses of the government, and people with common sense know that the free list won't have much of a showing in face of the absolute necessity to raise an enormous revenue.

THE ROUGH RIDER'S FLOP ON RECIPROCITY.

When the Canadian reciprocity propositon was up, President Taft submited it to Colonel Roosevelt in January, 1912, and the Colonel wrote the President as follows: "I firmly believe in free trade with Canada for both economic and political reasons." Shortly afterwards Roosevelt repudiated his endorsement of reciprocity and in his speech in Vermont a couple of weeks ago he told the farmers everybody that he was opposed to reciprocity.

The New York World says the Colonel made the shift for political reasons solely "because he is now a candidate." Of course, the Colonel now speaks against the reciprocity bill "for political reasons solely." The Democrats in Congress supported it for the same season and played a poor game of politics, because they did not wait long enough to look for the cat in the meal tub.

A few Democrats were wise enough to oppose the Taft proposition, because they saw through it. We hardly think any Democrat would now favor the Taft proposition for it proved a Jonah for Taft in the wheat growing country. The Democrats would have profited by the Taft opposition in the West but unfortunately they had committed the party to it without stopping to consider the cost. It weakened our party in the grain States and no Democrat would dare to go before the people out there and talk the kind of reciprocity that Taft proposed, a measure absolutely designed to benefit several special interests.

Democrats now see that the Taft reciprocity scheme was not at all the idea of reciprocity that would benefit both countries and not discriminate aginst any interest. We will some day have that sort or reciprocity with Canada, but in the National Democratc convention at Balitmore the subject was not even broached, for the reason they got enough of it by making a mistake in following Taft in sis jonah propositon.

The Southern Democrats wso voted against reciprocity have been vindicated by time. They were wise, for they saw it discriminated against the farmer. That was made plain when the Taft crowd even refused to consider concessions to the farmers to even up what they would lose by reciprocity. When the bill was passed by Congress, the price of wheat took a big tumble and it stampeded the wheatgrowers to LaFollette who had fought reciprocity in their interest. No doubt LaFollette voted against reciprocity for political reasons, and the whole game was one of politics, even so far as Taft was concerned.

It was poor policy for Taft, however, for he could not be elected dog-pelter in a single wheat growing or cattle-raising State. The Hill railroads and other lines were to be benefited by it because it would give them business in the hauling of Canadian timber and lumber, Candian cattle, and Canadian grain, ect. Reciprocity as Taft had it fixed up would have benefited the railroads, would have opened a free market for the lumber interests of America who own about two-thirds of the standing timber in Canada, would have given the milling trust a Canadian source of grain supply, and would have truned over duty free Canadian livestock for the benefit of the beef trust.

No Democrat would now knowingly endorse such a scheme, and those Democrats who opposed the bill were wiser than the majority of their party. Reciprocity of the Taft jonah kind was loaded, but if it will hurt only Taft it will be all right. However, Roosevelt is going to make the most of it, for although he once committed himself to the Taft reciprocity proposition, he is now in the West to win votes from Taft and the Democrats by telling the people that he is opposed to reciprocity. He raked up that dead issue in his New England speeches although it is not an issue in this campaign except as a vote getter. It is being used both ways in North Carolina, Texas and in the wheat growing and cattle raising States.

WAITING TILL WE ELECT A NEW PRESIDENT.

There is a feeling in diplomatic circles at Washington that the delay by the British Foreign Office in asking for arbitration of the free toll section of the Panama Canal act is an indication that Great Britain finally will abandon that plan.

On the contrary, Great Britain shows no sign of getting cold feet on her proposition to construe our treaty with her according to the plain words of the clause pledging us against discriminating against the shipping of any other country in operating the canal.

It is explained from London that the British government is waiting till after our Presidential election. There is a feeling in England that at the next session of Congress the Senate will amend the Panama bill and make it less objectionable. That course will be pursued before there will be any necessity to appeal to the Hague Tribunal.

The British press has been very severe on us for our course in this matter and in a general way they call it an example of "Yankee perfidy." The Government, however, is conservative and guarded, and is satisfied that the American government will finally take a different view of the matter.

In his New York speech last week, Woodrow Wilson despatched the free trade bogie, by declaring that "no free trader can get abroad in America at present." The skeptical Republican New York Tribune, refusing to have its fears relieved, says: "Yet every Congressman who voted for the Farmers' Free List was the rankest kind of free trader." If the Tribune's humor is keen, it will appreciate the campaign joke sprung in North Carolina to the effect that the author of the "Farmers' Free List" is a rank protectionist. Oh, Politics, how many things are said and done in thy name to prove opposite propositions by the same argument. Of course, if the Tribune is right, the author of the "Farmers' Free List" is the worst kind of enemy to protection.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Tom Settle has the idea that he is the big noise in North Carolina politics. But wait till he hears from the vote in November.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Senator Lee S. Overman is on the Congressional Commission to investigate Federal aid as to matters of good road work. He is expected to be a force for the best plans for making good roads.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Senator Simmons announces that he will open his speech-making campaign in Charlotte, the stronghold of Democracy, and the biggest and best city of the State. We invite all good Democrats to come out and hear the Senator. The senior Senator returns to his State after one of the greatest fights ever made in that body. His leadership of the tariff reform struggle has attracted universal attention. As one of he really big men of the Senate, distinguished by his Democratic collengues as their leader in the most important legislative battle of the session, he has made a record of which Democracy should be proud. Mr. Simmons is traveling on his own record, and by the strength of the same he stands for re-election. — Charlotte News.

In 1904 Theodore Roosevelt was candidate for the Presidency. He had the support of every Republican office holder in the country, State and Nation. He had the support of every Republican newspaper. He had a campaign fund of at least $1,900,000, and how much more besides no man can tell. Today he is candidate for a third term. He has the support of not more than 1 1-2 per cent of the Republican office holders. He has the support of only two influential Republican newspapers, the Chicago Tribune and the Kansas City Star. These papares supported him prior to the Chicago convention, and since then he has won over no others. His campaign fund is derived from trust sources, which undoubtedly will be exposed when the Senate Committee begins an investigation on September 20th. Query: Where will T. R. get off?—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

WILSON CAMPAIGN FUND

It is to be regretted that the people of Wilmington have not responded more generally to the call for subscriptions to the campaign fund of Governor Woodrow Wilson. This has, perhaps, been due to the somewhat divided effort in securing these funds, but henceforth it is earnestly hoped that the fund will be swelled. We built the Panama Canal with a smokehouse full of money and insist on running it to suit ourselves. However, we can't dispute that joker which Great Britain wrote into the peace treaty balling us up over favoring American shipping with free toll. Our treaty makers must have been laid under the table before all the wine was gone.

PROJECT FOR TOURIST HOTEL

New York Firm Interested in the Matter—Site Located on the Cape Fear River, Overlooking Brunswick Bay.

For the purpose of conferring with Messrs. Jno. H. Fife & Co., hotel brokers and operators of 1133 Broadway, relative to a project to erect a 300-room Winter tourist hotel at Riverside Park, three miles below the city on the Cape Fear River overlooking Brunswick Bay, Dr. Russell H. Bellamy will leave for New York city with in the next week or 10 days. He has been in correspondence with the Fife company for some time and they are very favorably inclined toward the project.

Riverside Park, a tract of 300 or more acres, is said to be the most ideally located site for a high-class tourist hotel between New York and Palm Beach, Fla., offering advantages that many other places where such hotels are in operation cannot hope to match. It is situated on a plateau overlooking beautiful Brunswick Bay, where the Capt Fear is about half-mile wide, with a view up the river for half a mile or more and also up the picturesque and tropic Brunswick river, which empties into the Cape Fear at the bay. Down the Cape Fear the view extends for miles, the picture presented being one of striking beauty.

The site is covered with a luxuriant growth of the long leaf pine, their fronds mingling very prettily with the masses of Southern gray moss that adorn many of the trees along the river. The park is approached by either boat or hard road and is also near the railroad operated by New Hanover county, and which will probably be the line along which an electric road will be operated in the near future.

It has been suggested that the proposed hotel be called the New Hanover or the Hanover. Some of the advantages it would have to offer over many of the other resort hotels would be accessability to yachts and motor boats, a stimulating, exhilirating and restful climate and the further advantage of being within a short distance and easy reach of New York and other big centers. A new Yorker could take an early tea in his own city and breakfast at the hotel next morning. Or, he could come down the coast in his private yacht, either outside or by the inland water route. It is proposed to request the A. C. L., in case the new hotel is built, to shorten the schedule between here and Rocky Mount, thereby making the time between this vity and New York less than 14 hours.

Riverside Park is high and well drained, and by reason of the clay subsoil furnishes excellent opportunity for golf links, tennis courts, polo fields, etc., while the broad Brunswick Bay offers unexcelled opportunity for motor boat racing, canoeing,swimming and other aquatic sports Other attractions which this section could offer the guests of the hotels would include the fine roads of New Hanover county, which are excellent for motoring and horse back riding, and also the splendid shooting through the Winter, as well as the salt water fishing a short distance away trough the Fall.

The many advantages that such a hotel would mean to the city and section are so apparent as to need no enumeration. The season would begin at this hotel just about the end of the season at Wrightsville Beach and it would mean that Wilmington would be the feeder city to a big resort practically all the year around. It would be a big factor in the development of Wilmington and the surrounding section and all who have the interests of the community at heart will earnestly hope that the project will be carried out to a successful termination.

Riverside Park is owned by the Carolina Cotton Exposition Company, of which Dr. Bellamy is president. The company has the opportunity of obtaning much more land in the same section if needed. Its charter is broad and liberal and allows it to construct railroads, etc. It is the intention of the company to construct a spur line to the A. C. L. tracks if the hotel is built.

In a recent letter to Dr. Bellamy, the Fife company requests detailed information as to the grounds and the layout for the hotel. He expects to take with tem to New York a preliminary out line of what is planned, and probably a set of preliminary plans by Mr. Joseph F. Leitner, the well known local architect, who drew the plans for the leading hotel at Aiken, S. C., one of the best known Winter resorts of the country. Dr Bellamy will also point out to the hotel people the opportunities that a landscape architect would have for making the site even more beautiful than it is at present. Messrs. Fife & Co., have expressed themselves as very favorably inclined toward the project. They believe that the money to finance it can be raised in New York and that it could be leased to an experienced tourist hotel man for a long term of years.

ARRANGING PREMUIM LIST.

Agricultural Fair Next Month Promises to be Big Thing.

The premium list for the agricultural fair to be given at Highwood Park October 7th to 12th, inclusive, is being arranged by the management of the fair and will be announced some time this week. The fair is being arranged by K. C. Sidbury, Esq., and associates and it promises to be the biggest event of the kind ever held in this section. Promises of exhibits of agricultural products, poultry live stock, etc., have been made by many persons living in this and adjoining counties. There will probably be automobile races and there will, of course, be a midway as well as many other attractive features. It is announced that the railroads will give reduced rates from six or seven nearby counties and it is expected that several thousand visitors will be in the city during the gala week.

TO ERECT $20,000 BUILDING

Bids Asked for New Home of North State and E. L. Mathews Candy Companies, to Be Located At Front and Hanover

Bids for the erection of the handsome new home of the North State Candy Company and the E. L. Mathews Candy Company, to be located at Front and Hanover streets, are being advertised for and the contract will be let about the 20th of this month. It is planned to start work on the building by October 1st in order that it may be completed by the first of the coming year.

The plans for the structure were drawn by Mr. Henry E. Bonitz, the architect, and call for a two-story brick building with balconies, 66x150 feet in size. It is understood that the building will cost approximately $20,000. It will be one of the largest wholesale buildings in the city, and will be similar in design and construction to the building of the J. W. Murchison & Co., Water and Chesnut streets. It will be erected under the supervision of Mr. Bonitz.

The building will be faced with Borden brick with limestone trimmings, and will be semi-fireproof in character, of mill construction. It will be steam-heated and electric lighted and will be equipped with an electric freight elevator, as well as all other modern conveniences. The design is especially adapted to the needs of the business for which it will be used.

Mr. E. L. Mathews is president of both the E. L. Mathews Candy Company and the North State Candy Company. Both companies will occupy the new building. The E. L. Mathews Candy Company will manufacture candy, while the North State Candy Company will do a wholesale business.

SHIPPING CLERKS ELECT

Officers for Ensuing Year Named at Meeting Friday Night

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Shipping Clerks' Association was held Friday night in the Mayor's office at the City Hall with Mr. D. O. Westbrook presiding in the absence of the president, Mr. Virginus Hall. Probably the most important matter before the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing year, these being named as follows: President, Mr. Virginus Hall, who was re-elected; vice president, C. O. McNair; secretary and treasurer, John W. Blomme.

Following the election of officers and in the absence of President Hall the vice president, Mr. C. O. McNair, was called to the chair and presided during the remainder of the session. The association meets every first Friday night in the month and a committee was appointed to map out a programme. The following compose the committee: C. O. McNair, Virginus Hall, C. H. Thomsen and J. W. Blomme. A number of matters of interest and importance to the shipping clerks were discussed and the meeting proved one of the most enthusiastic since the association was organized.

GOES INTO REAL ESTATE.

Mr. H. R. Aiken Leaves Staff of Star For More Inviting Field.

Mr. H. R. Aiken, who for the past year and a half has most acceptably filled the position of assistant to the city editor of the Star, coming to this city from the Charlotte Observer, has felt the lure of the real estate activity in Wilmington, which has recently claimed the time and talent of some of the city's most progressive young men, and on Monday joins the forces of Messrs. Wilder & Metts, on Princess street. Mr. Aiken will devote himself to the general real estate and insurance business and carries with him to his new connection the very best wishes of the shop and of hundreds of friends made in Wilmington during his residence here. He is alert, active, keen of preception and possesses all the qualifications that seem to make for success in any business. It is repeated, Mr. Aiken is given up with regret, tempered only by the hope that in his new field, he may attain heights of success ordinarily not given to the newspaper fraternity.

CASHIER HAS DISAPPEARED

A. D. Rich Furniture Company Short More Than $100 and J. P. Prior An Employe, Is Not To Be Found—Stranger Here.

J. P. Prior, a young white man who drifted into the city about two weeks ago, and who through the efforts of Secretary J. B. Huntington, of the Y. M. C. A., obtained a responsible position as bookkeeper and cashier with the A. D. Rich Furniture Company, went to supper last evening at 7 o'clock, the usual hour, and when he had finied to return by 9, and inquiry at his boarding house elicited the information that he had not been there since morning, an examination of the cash drawer revealed the fact that over $100 in currency and silver was missing.

As soon as Mr. Rich discovered the shortage in his cash he notified the police, and Chief Fowceler immediately wired a description of Prior, with instructions to arrest, to the authorities in Rocky Mount, Norfolk, Goldsboro, Wilson, Chadbourn and Conway. Nothing had been heard up to a late hour last night and it is not known whether Prior was captured or not.

Mr. Rich, in speaking of the matter last night, stated that he did not know the exact amount which is missing. He said that Prior's books showed as the day's receipts something over $280, and that in the cash drawer all that was found was a number of checks, amounting to about $170. For this reason he believes that over $100 must have been taken in cash. He also fears that Prior secured more than this, as he stated that the bookkeeper was supposed to have paid the firm's bills Friday. He thinks that the man may have kept all the money supposed to have been paid and took it with him. Mr. Rich had not had time to go over the books carefully last night, and did not know haw much is supposed to have been paid out on bills Friday.

Mr. Rich said that about two weeks ago he was very much in need of a good bookkeeper and that advertising and personal solicitation had failed to obtain one. He had happened to mention to Mr. J. B. Huntington, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., that he needed a man, and he had told aim of Prior. Mr. Rich said that the young fellow produced excellent references from several houses, one of them a wholesale house in Tennesse. He gave him a trial and he proved to be an excelent bookkeeper, preforming his duties in a manner that could not be criticized.

Last night, he said, Prior must have gone out about 6:30 or 7 o'clock, which is the hour at which he had been going to supper. The other employes of the store were busy and nothing further was though about the cashier until one of the negro drivers requested to be paid off about 9 o'clock. Mr. Rich told him that the bookkeeper would pay him and the negro stated that he was not in the office. Mr. Rich found this was true and he sent to Prior's boarding souse, learning that he had not been there since morning. At that he became suspicious. He did not have a key to the cash drawer and he was forced to break it open. He found the checks which had been paid in during the day, but all currency and silver was missing. It was then that he reported the matter to the police.

Secretary Huntington, of the Y. M. C. A., was seen by a Star representative last night, and informed of the supposed embezzlement. He was dismayed and he declared that he could hardly believe it possible. Prior, he said, had come into the Y. M. C. A. building one morning about two weeks ago, dripping wet from having been out in the rain all night. He had no money and had had very little to eat for several days. Mr. Huntington said that he did not know where the young man's home was, but that he thought that he came here from Nashville. He said that he gave the boy enough money to get something to eat and that he also helped him buy a few clothes. Prior seemed very grateful and was willing to do anything to repay him. He said that the young man had assisted him with the books of the Association on one or two occasions, and he lerned that he was a good bookkeeper. When Mr. Rich mentioned that he needed such a man Mr. Huntington told him of Prior, whom he said had a number of very good references. Mr. Huntington said that Prior appeared to be a clean-cut, honest young fellow, temporarily down on his luck. Since he had been employed with the Rich Company, Mr. Huntington said that he had repaid him part of the money expended by him when Prior first reached the city. He said that he did not mind his own trifling loss, but that he hated to have his confidencse in his fellowman so rudely shaken.

Mr. Rich and the police are of the opinion that Prior left the store just in time to catch one of the evening trains out of the city.

TWO PYTHIAN RALLIES SOON

Col. Walker Taylor, Grand Chancellor, Issues Circular Letter Calling Attention to Very Important Meetings

Col. Walker Taylor, of this city, Grand Chancellor Commander of the Knights of Pythias, domain of North Carolina, is preparing to issue circular letters to all lodges in the State calling the attention of Pythians to important rallies which will be held soon, one in Goldsboro and the other in Greensboro, probably, on successive nights. These cities have been tentatively selected because of their central location and accessibility over different railroads.

The rallies will be of much importance and they mark another step in Grand Chancellor Taylor's campaign to increase the membership of the order in this State. The programme will include address and discussion of Pythian topics, oratory, lectures, initiatory exercises, etc.

The circular letter, now in the hands of the printer, is as follows:

"To the District Deputies, Lodge Deputies, Subordinate Lodge Officers and Members in the Domain of North Carolina.

"Greeting:—You have heretofore been made aware of the fact that I have secured a promise from the Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal to visit this Domain in the Fall, bringing the Bible upon which the founders of the order took the obligations.

"It is desired to form a Founders Bible Class, hold conventions at central and convenient points (Greensboro and Goldsboro probably) and confer the First Rank, using the Bible referred to.

"A public meeting will be held in connection with this convention, and distinguished orators will be present to assist in the exercises to be held which we hope to make attractive.

"The success of this movement depends upon you. Upon the energy and enthusiasm which you individually display. Will you help? I have already in my circular No. 4 indicated a practical and proper method of securing increased membership. Make special efforts in connection with the method therein suggested, and get up a Founders Bible Class.

"The motto of the present Supreme Lodge term, complimentary to Thos. J. Carling, elected Supreme Chancellor, is 'A Million for Carling.' You are already one of the million, get another one.

"Please, at a regular meeting which all members have been urged to attend, discuss this Bible class. Appoint a committee to manage details. This committee might sub-divide itself—one part undertaking to secure promises from members of the lodge to attend the convention—another making a canvass for new members to receive the First Rank at that time—and in this connection make an effort to obtain reinstatement of old members—and another looking after any financial arrangements necessary. (Write me about this letter if suggestions are needed).

"Now, brothers, go to work.

"The exact date of the conventions, which will probably be held in November, will be given you later.

"WALKER TAYLOR,
"Grand Chancellor.

"Attest:
W. T. HOLLOWELL,
"Grand Keeper of Records and Seal."

LAST GAMES YESTERDAY

City League Season Ends—Company B, The Champions

The concluding games in the City League series were played yesterday afternoon at Hilton diamond, the Company B team winning the first from the Amateurs by the score of 7 to 3, and the Giants taking the second from the Athletics to the tune of 6 to 4. Company B won the series with 6 won and two lost.

The games yesterday afternoon were devoid of features for the most part. The batteries in the first game were Register and Burnett for Company B, and Hines and Bell for the Amateurs. In the second Irving and Moore performed for the Giants and Taylor and Wilson did the honors for the Athletics.

For the series, the standing of the teams is as follows: Company B, won 6; lost 2; percentage, .750; Athletics, won 5; lost 4; percentage .555; Giants, won 4; lost 5; percentage .444; Amateurs, won 2; lost 6; percentage .250.

The management of the champions, Company B, intends to arrange a game with the Delgado team for next Saturday afternoon at League Park, if possible. The boys of the Company B team believe that they can hold their own with the Delgado lads.

GARDEN CITY LOTS.

Sale of Property Begins Monday —Moore's Real Estate Agency.

Elsewhere in today's paper is the announcement that tomorrow morning at Moore's Real Estate Agency, No. 123 Princess street, will open the sale of that very desirable suburban property known as Garden City, formerly the test or demonstration farm on the Wrightsville Turnpike and line of the Tidewater Power Co., within two miles of the city.

For the past month or six week a large force of men have been at work on this subdivision, grading, laying sidewalks, streets, laying out the lots and parks, etc., and the sale promises to be one of the most sensational in suburban realty in a twelve month. An attractive feature of this property is that artesian water will be piped to every lot, while electric lights, telephones and practically every city convenience will be afforded. This land is perhaps the most productive in the county and purchasers of lots will find gardening and horticulture apparently easy: These lots are going to be sold either for cash with a liberal discount or on easy terms. Hundreds and hundreds of inquiries have been as to the property, prices, terms, etc., and if the subdivision is not sold before the end of the week the promoters will be greatly disappointed.

Moore's Real Estate Agency will have the handling of this property exclusively and those who expect to purchase would do well to call on them Monday without fail. Automobile serveice is offered free from any part of the city to the grounds and only ten minutes is required for an inspection of the property.

New York, Sept 7.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing houses banks for the week, (5 days) shows that the banks hold $2,751,100 reserve in excess of legal reserve requirements. This is a decrease of $1,802,050 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Mr. James Owen Reilly qualified on Friday as administrator of the estates of Patrick J. Glavin and Edwin C. Glavin, being appointed at the request of the heirs of the two men.

—Announcement is made that the following freight trips on the suburban line will be discontinued beginning Wednesday, September 11th: 7:00 P. M. trip leaving Ninth and Orange streets, and the 8:15 P. M. trip leaving the beach.

—Hester A. Williams, of Wilmington, and W. W. Dixon, of Castle Haynes, highly respectable colored people, were married Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock. The bride was dressed in white satine and carried a bouquet of white flowers.

—Articles of incorporation of the Waverly Furniture Company, recently granted a charter by the Secretary of State, were received yesterday at the office of the Clerk of Superior Court. The incorporators are Messrs. G. F. Hunt, E. S. Waddell, C. V. Black, of Trout, La., and J. H. Bost.

—Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer: "The old Cape Fear river got up courage and rose to four feet Thursday, but then began falling back again. There was only three feet at the wharves here this morning and the water falling. Of course no boats are running."

—Report has been made to police headquarters that Bunny Williams, a 12-year-old colored boy, who lives at No. 504 Taylor street, at the home of his uncle, Bedie Dubard, ran away from home Friday morning because he feared a whipping for doing something he was told not to do. The officers have been asked to aid in the search for the lad.

—Salisbury Post: "Mr. J. F. Rulfs, of Wilmington, a former Salisbury business man, has purchased of Mr. N. B. McCanless that beautiful and very desirable residence lot, corner Main street and Military avenue. He has not yet decided what he will do with it. The Post, along with all Salisbury, hopes he may decide to build a home on it for his own use and again take up his residence in Salisbury."

Injured Player Leaves For Home.

Catcher Callahan, of the Anderson baseball team, who fractured his leg while sliding to second in Thursday's game at League Park, left last night for his home in Baltimore. The popular ball player greatly appreciated the collection of $37 which was taken up at yesterday's game for his benefit, when it was carried to him at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, where he has been confined since his injury. He was able to walk with the assistance of crutches.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 7.—A post-season series between the Bristol "Boosters," winners of the pennant in the Appalachian League, and the Roanoke "Tigers," winners of the pennant in the Virginia League, the seasons of which closed today, was arranged tonight. MADE HER WELL WOMAN.

Mrs. W. P. Valentine of Camden, N. J., says: "I suffered with pains in my back and side, sick headaches, no appetite, was tired and nervous all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I wish other suffering women would avail themselves of this valuable remedy."

For nearly forty years Ladia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and no sick woman does herself justice who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs.

COTTON MAKES MORE GAINS

After Reaching New High Ground the Market Eased Off Under Realizing—Close Was Steady, 14 Points Up

New York, Sept. 7.—After making some new high ground for the movement this morning, the cotton market eased off from the best under realizing, but closed steady with last prices from 9 to 14 points above the final figures of yesterday. The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points in keeping with lower Liverpool cables, while scattered selling may also have been inspired to some extent by reports of rain in parts of the Eastern belt. The offerings were by no means heavy or aggressive, however, and shortly after the call the market became firm on covering by recent sellers and fresh buying for long account. There were numerous reports of rapid crop deterioration in South Texas, while there were also advices of a more active spot demand in that section of the belt and these bullish features seemed to be creating a more general demand around the local rign.

At any rate prices sold up sharply, with December contracts advancing to 11.75, or 19 points above the close of yesterday and practically $4.50 per bale above the recent low record. The continued presence of a low barometer in the East Gulf section, probably accounted for part of the demand as it led to some comment regarding the possibility of storm developments over Sunday, but realizing became more active in the late trading and closing prices were 6 or 8 points off from the best in consequence.

Estimated receipts 24,783 bales, against 15,167 last week and 28,787 last year; today's receipts at Galveston 20,234 bales, against 17,227 last year; at New Orleans 549, against 996 last year and at Houston 17,209, against 14,566 last year.

Cotton spot closed quiet. Middling uplands, 11.85; middling gulf, 12.10; no sales. Futures closed steady.

STOCKS DULL AND IRREGULAR

Two-hours' Session Represented Little More Than Settlement of Contracts—Coppers Made a Spurt.

New York, Sept. 7.—The dullness and irregularity of the stock market today was in keeping with the preceding days of the week, the low ebb of business being a natural outcome of the diminished attendance of members of the exchange and the absence of demand from outide sources. In effect the two session represented little more than the usual week-end settlement of contracts entered into by the professional element, in which a faction of formidable proportions seems t have arrayed itself of the selling side.

At the outset there was a renewal of recent pressure upon Canadian Pacific, United Stites Steel and Union Pacific, while other representative stocks moved within the circumscribed limits.

Trading came to an absolute halt before the end of the first hour, after which the market moved inertly, except for a sudden spurt in the entire copper group, which probably had its basis in the expectation of a favorable statement by the Producers' Association next Monday.

The balance of the list rose in sympathy, obliterating most losses and substituting numerous material signs of gain.

The surplus reserve shown by the bank statement decreased by a little more than $1,800,000, net deposits contracting by $39,117,000.

There was further pressure against certain bond issues, but in the main the tone was improved.

U. S. bonds were unchanged on the week. Total sales 121,700, including: C. & O. 600; L. & N. 1,500; N. & W. 100; S. A. L. 400; do, pfd. 200; Southern 100; do pfd. 1,000; Tennessee Copper 2,400; V. C. C. 100.

HAVING clothes made to measure has so great a charm about it for some men that a tape line and a few figures on a paper makes them think they're getting something extra good. They give up their money cheerfully, without really knowing whether the clothes they buy are all-wool and well-tailored or not.

As a matter of fact, you can buy clothes ready-made by

that are better, in fabrics, tailoring, style, and fit, than any but the finest, highest priced custom tailoring; they compare favorably with even that.

We sell these goods because they're the best made.

Our $20 and $22 suits are better than any you'll get made to measure for $35. If you pay less for made-to-measure clothes we're sorry for you.

We make Clothes to Order from $15.00 up, for those who want.

COLLIER'S WEEKLY AGAIN.

Editor Star:—In reply to the article appearing in your yesterday's issue headed "Southern Women" I wish to say that, although I am not a supporter of Gavernor Kitchin, I beg to refer to a part of his speech in which he called attenion to the campaign of "evasion and muddling of the issues" on the part of Simmons' Managers and in which he likened them to a man who had bet another man that he could plow a straight furrow. But suddenly when he came upon a stump he called out to the man with whom he had made the bet to look at the moon and wsile this man was looking at the moon, the plowman swiftly "dodged" the stump and lo, was on his way again plowing a straing furrow when the other man shifted his eyes back. This little anecdate fits the Simmons Collier's controversy exactly.

Is Collier's great and monumental work for good to be annulled because of its attitude on the race question, an attitude that is general in the north and frequently by its press? Certainly C. P. Connelly and Mark Sullivan, two men of national reputation and expert political writers have no personal enmity toward Senator Simmons. Is William Jennings Bryan the less the most potential man to day, politically speaking, because he has declared himself against Senator Simmons as being undemocratic and unprogressive? Can the motives of Harpers' Weekly be impugned because it expressed similar views or shall the peerles Senator Ransom be condemned because he described Senator Simmons as unfit to represent Democracy? No one reveres the womanhood of the Southland or any other land more so than I do and I can best refute the veiled inference of the writer of "Southern Women" that I was devoid of sympathy for the South by stating, that, I took an active part in the race riot here, stood on guard almost night and day, assisted in smashing in the door of Manly's printing office, and when the riot broke out in Brooklyn, I was one of the first to arrive there. Nothing vaorous about that, but I simply was there and did my duty. It was not the incidental slander by Manly of Southern womanhood that brought on the race riot, and the subsequent political upheaval, but rather the climaxing of an era of political debauchery, produced by a band of black hearted Republican carpet baggers, the same clan, with which Senator Simmons exchanged his vote in the U. S. Senate in order to get a few hand-outs by way of appropriations, appropriations that are mostly pending and which are being held over the heads of the voters as big club. The writer says that the Newbern Lodge of Elks excluded Collier's Weekly from its reading rooms. Newbern is the home of Senanator Simmons. The same place where Senator Lorimer, attorney for the lumber trust and now expelled from the U. S. Senate for corruption, was entertained by Senator Simmons for about a week, ostensibly to look over some timber tracts in the neighborhood. Newbern is also the home of the Roper Lumber Co., which concern came to that place some years ago with a nominal capital and which now, thanks to Mr. Lorimer and Mr. Simmons' lumber tariff manipulations, is now worth millions. The common people, of course, as usual pay the freight. The Roper Lumber Co., is only one of the many northern lumber corporations that swooped down (no doubt by advice of counsel) upon our virgin forests, bought them in at prices below their value and are now denuding without check, our State of its priceless natural heritage.

The press of the State has in the past bristled with complimentary references to Colliers' Weekly and my advice to young men is that they become "close students" of its political propaganda. They will see a light, and with an army of such men, every machine politician can be put out of business forever and true Democracy restored.

Respictfully,
FRANK HERBST.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Illinois.

An Emergency Case: Since this is the age of automobiles, rapid transit and outdoor sports, the emergency case properly equipped is a necessity.

Possessed of an Emergency Case, containing the articles suggested herein, and good common-sense, combined with a knowledge of how to give the Home Health Club treatments, you will be able to render first aid to the injured or to one suddenly stricken with some acute disorder, when the opportunity presents itself, thus relieving a fellow-being from pain, or, perhaps, saving life, which act will always be a source of self-satisfaction, and that sort of self-satisfaction is nothing more or less than a proper reward for kind act, and is in no way reprehensible, but quite contrary. Besides, owning and using such a case you will be acquiring useful information, almost imperceptibly.

This case is merely for personal or home use. More elaborate and extensive one may be devised for schools, camps, factories, ships, mines, etc. It it better to prepare such an important thing before there is need for it The sense of providence will indorse that. It is, of course, more necessary that such a case should be on hand where one is not in touch with a drug-store It is handy on an outing and is a sort of insurance against accident. In case of accident there is always more or less of excitement. Owning such a case, you know just where to go to get what is needful in an emergency.

Never Lock The Case: You might have trouble finding the key, in a hurry but always keep it where the children or meddlesome persons will not easily get at it.

Following should be the contents of the Emergency Cases. Later we will give a paper telling something about the uses of these articles.

Absorbent cotton, 2 4-oz. packages; gauze bandages, 6; cotton bandage, 1 (1yd square;) adhesive plaster; 1 (1 roll 1 inch wide, 5 yds long;) lodoform gauze, (1 yd long;) Gauze bandage, 1 (1 yd square;) Mustard plaster 1 dozen;) Surgeon's soap; Peroxide of Hydrogen, 1 (4-oz. Bottle) Powdered mustard; (antidote in poisoning; 4 oz.;) vaseline (carbolated;) 2 oz. packages. Ointment (oxide zinc;) 2 ounces;) Scissors 1 pair; court plaster, 1 roll, safey pins, 2 dozen; Sesqui-Chlor Iron. 3 oz. Splinter Forceps Antiseptic tablets; rubber tubing (for tourniquet or stomach tube;) and triangular bandage.

Everything should be wrapped with wax paper to keep it sterile and clean until needed.

Don't wait until you have to have these things before you get them. Have them where they will do the greatest possible good. Have them like the fire department—always ready.

How and For What The Contents May be Used: Absorbent cotton is the ideal dressing for most wounds. It absorbs the discharge, is light, soft, and clean. Common cotton will not absorb, because of the oil it contains; it has not been sterilized, is not clean and should not be used. Absorbent cotton is sterilized, long fibred cotton. It should be kept away from the air and dust until needed.

Cotton Bandages: These are made of specially prepared cotton, free from starch or filling. The are rolls wrapped for use and should be kept clear from dust.

Surgeon's Plaster: This is used to cover and to fasten together the edges of wounds—usually small ones. It should never be applied to burns, as the flesh and skin have been destroyed and the removal of the plaster would lacerate the wound.

Mustard Plasters: These are so readily obtainable, ready-made, and in so much more convenient form than the old fashioned mustard plaster, that they are best for the Emergency Case. The ingredients of these are spread upon paper and are known as mustard-leaves. They may be used whenever a mustard plaster is indicated.

Surgeon's Soap: For Cleansing and sterilizing the hands of the operator: infected wounds, sores, ulcers, etc.

Antiseptic Tablets: Great care should be taken to hinder children or irresponsible persons from touching them. These are colored blue so that no mistake can be made in their use. One of these tablets dissolved in four ounces of water makes a solution of Corrosive Sublimate of 1 to 1000; excellent for dressing wounds and sterlizing the hands of the operator.

Sol. Hyd. Oxide of Iron: Used as antidote in arsenic poisoning or from Paris Green. The Oxide of Zinc ointment is excellent as a mild and healing dressing for burns and skin diseases.

Peroxide of Hydrogen: An effected disinfectant and safe dressing for wounds. Has a wide range of usefulness and is an excellent preventive for infections of wounds, used before the dressings are put on.

Rubber Tubng: To be used as a tournquet for flushng the stomach. As a tourniquet it should be wrapped tightly around the bleeding limb and tied. As a stomach tube, place one end down the throat of the patient, insert small funnel, something improvised for the purpose—and pour luke-warm water into the stomach, to dilute the poison and ot cause vomiting.

The uses of the other contents of the Emergency Case, such as scissors, forceps, pins, etc., will suggest themselves.

CLUB NOTES.

Dear Doctor:—I have most violent attacks of Gastralgia which effect the heart. Is there hope of permanent cure? Since the last attack have been eating nothing but whole wheat bread dipped in olive oil with a sprinking of sugar still my tongue is coated all over constantly. Grapenuts with rich cream sour on my stomach. Can eat nothing without more or less indigestion. I drink a cup of real water with salt before breakfast and have been drinking medicine upon physician's prescription before meals. Am taking a course of physical culture; circularly. Live on farm F. C.

No wonder the poor stomach rebels at some of the things which are put into it Sometime ago I saw a suggestion as to what the human stomach should be made of, it was suggested that it should be made of boiler plate, double cooper riveted and asbestos lined. People assault stomach constantly with a mixture of supposed foods which when it reaches the stomach is transformed into an indigestable mass. The stomach does the best it can with these con-glomerations and passes it on into the intestines where it sours and putrifies. The digestive system withstands these assaults for a period of time and then goes on a strike. The persons who harbor this wonders why their stomach won't digest anything and why nothing seems to agree with them. They would not for anything stop eating for a few days and clean out the intestinal tract and give the whole system a rest, and spend a little time studying up the cause of the trouble. But they will run off to a doctor or druggist and get an artifical supply of digestives so that they can continue their gormandizing.

I will say to F. C. that branches of the same nerve go both to the stomach and heart and if the stomach is mistreated the heart will suffer also I believe that whole wheat bread dipped in olive oil is not the proper diet for your stomach at the present time, neither is grape-nuts and rich cream. I think exclusive diet of fresh milk or buttermilk after a day or two of fast would be indicated, after this diet has been carried out for a week or two little mutton or poultry may be taken with Zweibach and a little fruit sauce. Full diet should not be indulged in for several weeks. Sometimes contracted muscles along the spine will bring on an attack of gastralgia, it can then be overcome by vibratory stimulation or skillful manipulation. I will advse you to contnue your physical cult.re exercises.

Dear Doctor:—I wish to know what to do for hay asthma? I am a man 32 years old, work in a grocery. Affected in August and September.

Some years ago the writer picked up a litle book, written by a German physician, who is long since dead, and in glancing over it found a brief menton of hay fever or coryza. He suggested that salt was the cause and that sufferers were liberal users of salt on their food.

In his investigations, he found that the system and tissues of such a person needed the salt and was crying out for it, and following the demand the sufferer ate large quantities of it. The trouble all arose, he said from the fact that the salt eaten was not presented in a form that was acceptable to the system or that could be taken up and assimilated by the tissues. He stated further that the salt must be supplied in the proper manner and a cure will surely follow.

The writer himself at that time being a sufferer from hay fever, saw the point and procured an attenuated preparation of Sodium Chloride and took small doses four times daily. The result was a most agreeable surprise, for after a few days treatment the hay fever was gone.

We do not wish to be understood as saying that all cases of hay fever are met with in those who use salt freely, for that would not be true, but the attenuated doses of Sodium Chloride in sugar of milk can be safely depended upon where indicated.

Among the many measures which contribute to the relief of the sufferer are these; keep the skin active by frequent bathing, eating and drinking intelligently, deep and skillful manipulations of the muscles of neck and shoulders, and keeping the entire intestinal tract clean and free from waste matter.

ALDERMAN'S TRIBUTE TO WILSON.

"A Man Who Has a Profound Knowledge of Human Government and the Workings of Modern Society."

A letter from Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia.)

Charlottesville, Va., July 2.—Progressive Democracy has found its true leader and demonstrated its saving common sense in the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for the Presidency of the United States. The University of Virigmia has a right to honest pride in this great result, for she shares with Davidson, Princeton and Johns Hopkins the responsibility of having given training to this strong, new leader of a new Democratic era.

It was impossible for one who loves the University of Virginia to sit in the galleries of the great convention hall at Baltimore and see the waving banners bearing the names of Wilson and Underwood, and to hear the tumult their names evoked, and not feel high emotion in the reflection that both of these clean, sturdy sons of the South had studied within the walls of the university and gained intellectual and moral direction through its ideals and its teaching. There never was a moment when it was not clear to the cooler heads that these two men somehow were the strongest and best fruits of the new time that Democracy had to offer to the service of the republic. Never, perhaps, before in our political history have two such leaders come out from the walls of the same institution of learning.

Woodrow Wilson spent the years of 1879-80 and 1880-91 at the University of Virginia in the study of the law. He left behind him a memory of youthful power and promise, and he carried away with him some of the distinctive imprints of the genius of the University of Virginia. Its good taste, its clear thinking, its self-reliance, its moral courage, its straightforwardness, its self-restraint, are all reflected in the life and genius of the new leader of American Democracy.

It ought to be plain to the dullest mind that we are in a new era in the evolution of Democracy marked by a confidence in popular rectitude, by a purpose to give training to the great masses of the people, by a faith that they will reward such training by right action, and by a resolution to expect from them a directer expression of their will in the principles and in the machinery of government.

Woodrow Wilson won at Baltimore because he incarnated an idea vital, attractive, hopeful, appealing to youth and to all elements of the population that believe that future holds promise of better things in our social order. His victory is the victory of an ideal as well as the victory of a personality. It is plain that the republic needs the Democratic party as a compact and organized force for guaranteeing juster and truer forms of government. The supremest need of that partyis a real leader, and we have found him, as somehow he is always to be found in a national crisis, in the person of Woodrow Wilson.

I venture to predict that the campaign conducted by him will lift the whole discussion and tendency of our Government upon a loftier plane then it has been in a generation. It was this feeling widespread among the masses that Woodrow Wilson possessed the qualities of leadership needed by modern Democracy that won for him inch by inch throughout these weary days at Baltimore, painfully slow, but steady as a tide, the final approval of the hosts of the Democracy.

Thoughtful Americans everywhere have been feeling that such a leader must first of all have knowledge and brains and be able to see around things and beyond things and back of things. Second, he must have moral fervor and steadiness of aim. Sympathy must have a place in his heart for plain men who bear the burdens of the world. He must actually love justice and use it to the rich as well as to the poor, to the high-placed as well as to the lowly. He must above all things, have courage, moral, physical, intellectual, all the sorts of courage there are for he will be tried to the breaking point and then tried again.

Through these heated pre-convention days the feeling has been slowly gathering that in Woodrow Wilson the country has found a rare man, such as Democracy has not found to its hand in some generations, with a profound knowledge of human government and the working of modern society. His very radicalism and every searcher after truth must hit at the root sometimes, is thoughtful radicalism tempered by learning and patience and the long look ahead. It has been demonstrated that he has faith in himself and capacity to live alone with his ideals, and ability to refuse to compromise with the half truth or the self-seeker. It has been seen that he knew how to teach men what he knew with swift and wining charm, and he has demonstrated above everything the possession of a brand of calm and capable courage that he touched a soft spot in the hearts of a courage-loving people What American executive of recent times has exhibited greater power to instruct the public mind, to win public confidence, to gain great fundamental results against great odds?

The Universtiy of Virginia, I repeat, may be pardoned for feeling a sentiment of honest jubilation at the outcome of the National Convention at Baltimore. Her sons have filled high places in the service of the world, but not yet has one of them filled the great office of the Chief Magistrate of the nation. She will be pardoned for believing and hoping that the hour has struck when this consummation is to come about, when the herald of a new and juster order will be one trained in her walls.

Alma Mater wishes for her son, upon whom these great burdens must be placed good health a steady head, a stout heart and the kind of trust in men that long years ago ranked Jefferson among the immortals, and may again clothe his follower in invincible strength for public service. There is a noble compensation and a sort of dramatic quality in the thought that in this latest hour of national crisis and moral warfare ancient sectionalism has sunk out of sight forever and the whole nation has turned to the old breeding ground for leadership. Such leadership spells victory, and such victory means a new birth of justice and fair dealing in government and society. It is good to be a Democrati in the year of our Lord 1912.

Fortunes Spent in Trousseaux.

The elaborate trousseaux of members of the smart set would have made a queen bride of a century ago open her eyes with amazement. It is an ordinary thing for the daughter of a millionaire on getting her bridal finery ready to order 20 or 30 hats, trimmed with ostrich and other feathers, to harmonize with as many gowns. Every gown needs a distinct hat. The equipment of a rich bride is looked on as incomplete if it does not contain at least 30 gowns and such a trousseau does not mean the bride will get no more dresses for a year. When lingerie and little ornaments also are taken into consideration, it is plain a young girl in New York's smart set must spend many thousands of dollars for her outfit and several women have spent $80,000 to $100,000.

Grapple With Difficulties.

I find nothing so singular in life as this: That everything opposing appears to lose its substance the moment one actually grapples with it.—Hawthorne.

TL G. FIELD.

At Academy With His Mammoth Company, Sept. 16th.

THEATRICAL

The Academy this week will offer but one attraction, but that one will be sufficient to meet all demands and will furnish a feast of fun and music. This merry attraction will be the well known cartoon play, "Mutt and Jeff," and it has received an entire new dressing this year and has been made one of the jolliest musical comedies on the road. The production being given the tuneful piece is very elaborate. This well known attraction will be presented at both matinee and night performance at the Academy next Saturday, and the matinee should especially appeal to the ladies and children. It will be what is known as a popular price matinee—seats being but 50 and 75 cents, but children will be admitted to any part of the theare for 25 cents. This should assure a jammed house. The prices, as usual with standard shows, will run to $1.50. Seats will be on sale Friday at Plummer's.

Just a week from tomorrow night Al G. Field's Greater Minstrels will play their annual engagement at the Academy and, of course, "standing room only" will be in evidence, according to the custom when this mammoth show comes to Wilmington.

"Mutt and Jeff."

"The most famous cartoon comedy production extant" is pretty strong phraseology, but if you follow the career of "Mutt and Jeff" from its inception, you'll agree that there is no phrase of the English language that is too strong to describe the remarkable achievements of Bud Fisher's clever cartoon play. Newspaper readers in every town, city and hamlet, the length and breadth of this fair land, have seen and laughed at Fisher's unique comedy conceptions "Mutt and Jeff." When Gus Hill secured the play rights, few people foresaw the tremendous succes to be achieved. Four companies of forty-five people each are now playing the piece in the four corners of the United States, and all are playing, not only to capacity business, but are creating records in every theatre in whics they appear. The entertainment offered is giving satisfaction—just as naturally expected from so famous a theme—"gales of laughter," shrieks of merriment begin with the first appearance of these two funny fellows and continues througtout the two and one half hours of hilarious fun.

Don't miss it. If you have never been to the theatre in your life before and never expect to go again, see "Mutt and Jeff"—the laugh will do you good. A company of forty-five clever comedians, "singers and danceers will interpret tse various characters and guaraintee to please the most confirmed "grouch." A car load of magnificent scenery constructed to please the eye embellishes the general effect. A bevy of unusually pretty girls without which no real musical comedy is complete, are very much in evidence. Get seats early is a stereotyped bit of advice but in this instance it will pay you to be astar cast can be expected, or words to that effect.

One of tomorrow's gems is "The Boy and the Girl." It tells in vivid manner the story of the litle son of a rich man, the boy being spoiled and petted, but when an emergency arises the litle chap shows his manhood in remarkable manner. The way he rescues his little playmate from the path of a falling large rock is a thrilling piece of film business.

"The Much Wooing of Handsome Dan" is another splendid one tomorrow, and it is full of fun. It is aslo a great novelty. It sets forth how the best of a flirt is obtained by a number of young women he is endeavering to fool. The way they douse him in a pond, until he agrees to marry on old maid, will furnish the richest of howls of laughter.

Remember, too, that the Bijou never has and never will change its price of admission. It is always tiny 5 cents.

A SCENE FROM MUTT AND JEFF

vised. There's always a rush at the box office window when the "Mutt and Jeff" sign is out.

At The Bijou.

Neither hot nor dismal weather can keep people away from the cozy, up-to-date Bijou, because the people realize only too well what solid comfort and great delight are always found there. So yesterday was just another big day in the history of this popular amusement palace. Tomorrow is going to be another such successful day and with tomorrow's bill the Bijou will inaugurate one of the best weeks in its history. The selection of films for this week is the largest and best ever, each film coming direct from factory to the Bijou. Tomorrow's programme is a corker and will present to the people the very latest and greatest in the way of photoplays. Each film is a topliner, so really an all

New Week at The Grand.

The new week at the Grand Theatre will open with two great photoplays that are bound to draw the crowd at the small admission of five cents. Chief among these attractions will be "The Sehiff's Prisoner," a Lubin as clear as a bell and strong in dramatic action and beauty of plot. Sheriff Clancy, a pretty healthy individual, receives word that a notorious highwayman is wanted and he gets busy on the job. Bob Stern, a prospector pretty nearly answers the description of the road agent and Clancy tries to arrest him, but Bob turns the table, arrests the sheriff, locks him up in a closet and his sweetheart Mary is set to watch him. Stern then goes out, captures the right man and brings him to Clancy and then captures Mary.

The other feature is a stong Vitagraph, "Coronets and Hearths" a story of the English nobility who invades America in search of a wife. The story is replete with situations intensely interesting and pretty. Then there will be a third film and all told the new week will have a most auspicious start.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, today, demands health. To all is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half-alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Superior Court Convenes Monday—Political Talk—Sub-Station Being Erected—Tom Branch Injured—Other Items

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 7.—A one-week term of Superior Court will convene here Monday for the hearing of criminal cases. It is understood that Judge Bragaw will preside at this term but that he and Judge Lyon will exchange circuits so that the latter will hold the next two courts in this county.

There are about 140 cases on the docket for next week, about 100 of which were continued from last court, many of which are whiskey cases in which the prosecutor, a negro detective is not expected to be present, and will probably be thrown out. Following this term will be a two-weeks special term to convene September 30th to hear civil cases which have been accumulating, and which it seems cannot be disposed of until a special term is held to dispose of them.

A traveling man who is a strong supporter of Governor Kitchin, for Senator, was here yesterday, and when asked by one of his friends who is also a good customer, to tell him candidly how he found the Senatorial question in the State, he said he hated to say so but that he saw no chance for the Governor. He said it was Simmons wherever he had been. A gentleman residing in Lumberton has a brother in the Governor's home county, and in writing his brother here last week he expressed the doubt very strongly as to the Governor carrying his home county. A gentleman from here who is also a strong Kitchin man, spent last week in the Governor's county, and when he returned home Sunday he said that he was simply dumfounded when he got over there and found Senator Simmons as strong and he doubted the Governor carrying his own county.

While the County Commissioners were in session last Monday they had application for something out of the ordinary. It seems that some time in the past, it may have been a month, or a year or ten years as far as we know, a man procured license to get married, but when the time came the girl backed down and wouldn't come across. The disappointed lover kept the document and made no effort to get his money refunded until last Monday when he appeared before the board, exhibited the license and explained that he had found another sweetheart who he thought would stick, and he desired to have the license renewed or rather have it exchanged for a new one to marry his new girl. He did not think he ought to be taxed for what he didn't own. The Commissioners decided he would have to invest again and rather than be outdone he purchased a new paper.

Mr. C. S. Garrell, proprietor of the city market, after keeping his place of business closed during the Summer, expects to open again next week for the Fall and Winter. Mr. Hinds has kept his place open all the Summer, supplying the demands for fresh meat. We understand a new brick building is to be erected on Fourth street between Elm and Water in a short time which is also to be used as a market.

We've been told we were fixing to get into hot water if we kept knocking the egg man. We don't mind the hot water half as bad as the eggs that were brought over from last year or the year before containing petrified chickens.

The many friends of Mr. A. T. Parmele here and elsewhere, will be delighted to know that his sojourn in the mountains is proving very beneficial to him. He is said to be rapidly improving.

Few people here have any idea of the work that is going on at the substation that is being erected just below town by the Yadkin River Company. A large force of men are engaged on the job, several of them being experts in their line. As soon as this power reaches Lumberton the Lumberton and Dresden Mills will be operated by electricity, but so far as an outsider knows, nothing has been done toward the town using this power. Of course, that will eventually come, and perhaps in the near future.

We hear of very little complaint among our people about the Sunday mail service. Subscribers to the State dailies were furnished with their papers last Sunday at the Waverly Hotel just as though nothing had happened. One good thing about it, they can go and get their paper any hour of the day they wish whether they have a box or not.

Mr. Jno. C. Stout, of Rocky Mount, was here this week in consultation with Mr. H. M. McAllister regarding the plans of a handsome residence which Mr. McAllister expects to erect at an early date on the vacant lot opposite the old Methodist church. It is expected that work will begin on the building next month.

A Lumberton lady who spent last week in Washington and Baltimore, came home delighted with her trip, but was disappointed in one thing. She expected when she visited the picture shows in the big cities to see something of a higher class than what she saw at home, but she says when it comes to showing good pictures, the little show house in Lumberton is right up with the city shows. And that's the truth—we've seen them.

A few nights ago we heard a lady expressing her opinion of the town authorities about the manner in which some parts of town in the residential section were given paved sidewalks, while in other sections the inhabitants had to split the mud in bad weather. If the lady owns a home she can have paved sidewalks as good as others if she will come up with the cash same as other property owners did. The town didn't put down these paved sidewalks in the residential sections; the property owners paid for the work. The only regret is that every foot of sidewalk in town is not paved, but a fine start has been made and it is spreading rapidly all over town.

Manager Hollingsworth, of the Lumberton Steam Laundry, expects to be ready to serve Lumberton people by the 15th. Everything is in fine shape for turning out good work, but before any work is taken in every piece of machinery will be tested to see that everything is just as it should be to do strictly first-class work. Mr. Hollingsworth has several years experience in the business and in addition to his knowledge will have a foreman who is an old hand at the business. Then, too, Mrs. Hollingsworth is thoroughly familiar with the laundry business and will assist her husband in looking after the work. It is worth anyone's time to visit the laundry and see for themselves what a nice place it is going to be and how well equipped it will be to turn out high-grade work. This is something Lumberton has long needed and it is to be hoped that our people will show their appreciation by giving their work to a home enterprise.

The Edmund mill pond, south of Lumberton, is to be drawn off on the 18th and 19th, and there is little doubt but that tons of fine fish will be caught. This mill is located on a stream only a half mile from Lumber river and everyone who does much fishing knows what that means, there will be plenty of fish. Each person fishing those two days will be required to pay $1.50.

Rev. J. C. Thompson, of Raleigh, a former pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach in that church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. C. E. Franklin, of Charlotte, was in town Tuesday. Dr. Franklin has accepted the position of pharmacist for the Pope Drug Company succeeding Mr. Ernest Porter, who recently accepted the position, but has decided to return to his home in Concord to engage in business. Dr. Franklin will enter upon his duties on the 20th, Mr. Porter remaining until that time.

A marriage of much interest was solemnized in the First Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Prof. W. S. Whitaker, of Newberry, S. C., and Miss Daisy Holman, of Union Fork, Va., being the contracting parties and Rev. C. H. Durham performing the ceremony. The bride is a sister of Mrs. L. R. Varser and has been here for some time visiting during which time she has made many friends. The happy couple left on the evening train for the mountains. They will be at home after the 15th at McColl S. C.

To give some idea of the cross-tie business in this section, Mr. W. J. Prevatt paid out by checks during the month of August over $8,000 for cross-ties. There are several buyers here but Mr. Prevatt is the leading one. Besides this amount paid out in cash, many hundreds of ties were paid for in trade. Mr. Prevatt showed us these checks after they had been paid at the bank, and they range from a few dollars up.

Since last Friday night four carloads of horses and mules have been brought to this market from the West. Mr. C. M. Fuller received two loads and Messrs. W. I. Linkhaw and W. F. French one load each. In a short time there should be something doing in the stock market.

A good many bales of new cotton have been sold here this week, most of which was purchased by Mr. Jno. T. Biggs who buys for Messrs. Sprunt & Son. During last season Mr. Biggs shipped to them over 3,000 bales, and he hopes to go beyond that mark this season by several hundred bales.

Mr. Emory Prevatt, one of the Lumberton R. F. D. carriers, and Miss Belle Black, a trained nurse at the Thompson Hospital, went to Hamlet Thursday morning where they were united in marriage, Rev. R. E. Sentelle officiating, having gone from here with them for the purpose. After the ceremony the happy couple went to Carthage, the home of the bride, while Prof. Sentelle returned to Lumberton. We noticed in yesterday's Charlotte Observer that Rev. R. E. Sentelle, of Waynesville, also married a couple up in that section the same day. Strange coincidence.

The advertisement appearing in yesterday's Star over the name of "F. Herbst" is a swell composition and will help we "Simmons supporters and henchmen" along in our work of giving Senator Simmons the majority to which he is entitled. Gosh, think of a white man who lived in Wilmington in 1898 trying to defend the dirtiest sheet that ever went into a Southern home.

We understand that at an early date Lumberton is to have another automobile repair and sales establishment. The two that are here seem to be busy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McAllister and Mesdames J. A. and H. M. McAllister, left Thursday for the mountains. Mr. H. M. McAllister accompanied them as far as Charlotte, returning home that night.

If the statements of the guests of the Waverly Hotel are to be believed, there has been much improvement there during the past few days. And still greater improvements are to be made. Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Wishart are determined, as far as possible, with the facilities at their command, to make the Waverly a hotel where the traveling public will be taken care of in a decent manner.

Mr. J. B. Boyle, United States deputy marshal, for several years a resident of Maxton, has decided to move to Lumberton. Truth is, it seems that this a better field for his business than Maxton. Only yesterday we saw Mr. Boyle escorting a yellow fellow around town that was said to be a blind tiger.

Mr. L. G. Young, of Henderson, has taken a position as salesman with J. D. McMillan & Sons. Mr. Frank Nash, who has been with Mr. McMillan for some time, has resigned to enter school, and is succeeded by Mr. Regan McIntyre.

Mr. G. G. French has been spending the week in Baltimore.

Mr. Ira J. Flowers, of Wishart's township, moved with his family to town this week. Mr. Flowers recently purchased a home in North Lumberton and moved to town on account of our excellent graded school facilities.

Yesterday afternoon while the street force was engaged in washing off Elm street a man from the country drove in with a foolish mule attached to a buggy. The animal took fright at the stream of water being thrown and when the owner tried to force him ahead, turned short around, turning the buggy over together with the occupants and a large quantity of grapes. A bunch of small boys, always present, took the job of gathering up the fruit.

Another important real estate deal we understand has been made in town property, Prof. R. E. Sentelle having purchased the home of Mr. A. W. Peace on North Elm street, which was erected by Mr. Peace two years ago and occupied by him until he moved to Fayetteville. It is understood that Sheriff R. E. Lewis will occupy the house when he moves to town.

Among the charters granted in Raleigh Thursday we notice one for the Coley-McEachern Company, of Lumberton, capital $10,000 by J. A. Coley, D. S. McEachern and others, for a mercantile business. We do not know this firm and have no idea where they will be located. There is no vacant building here at present.

Tom Branch, formerly of Wilmington but now employed at the Lumberton Cotton Mill, was painfully hurt at an early hour this morning as the result of getting his left hand caught in some of the machinery. The hand was badly lacerated, but Dr. Grantham who dressed it, said no bones were broken or dislocated.

This morning about 5 o'clock two white men were seen asleep on a vacant lot, one of whom had imagined himself at home when he lay or fell down for the night as he was partially undressed. The pair, it is said, got awfully ugly when they were reminded that it was rising time. Mayor Caldwell will assess the charges for the night's lodging.

Capt. and Mrs. Amos King, who had been visiting in the mountains returned home a few days ago and left again this morning for Wilmington and the beach.

Dr. W. L. Grantham returned from New York last night where he had been attending lectures.

At a special meeting of the town commissioners held yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, an order was passed allowing Mr. A. W. McLean to erect a building on the vacant lot near the Seaboard passenger station. The building will be 50x100 feet, the material to be used being sheet iron, etc., guaranteed to be fireproof. It will be located on the south side of the lot, fronting on Second street, and will, it is said, be used as a garage.

Quite a number of Lumberton young men have left during the week for the different colleges in the State, among the number being Messrs. Frank Nash, Lee Carroll, Ed. Pope, Robert Prevatt and others.

ALL WASTE NERVOUS ENERGY

Everywhere People Squander Their Force Needlessly Instead of Carefully Husbanding It.

People should be as careful of their nervous energy as of their money, says an English writer. Yet we all waste it. At the telephone people talk twice as loudly and energetically as is necessary. That is to say, they use up twice as much nerve energy as they need. Three-fourths of those who have to catch trains every morning spend as much nervous force in one day as should last a week.

Then, in the streets, watch how people jostle and push, and what a lot of nerve-force they spend at dangerous crossings. Why not walk slowly when there is obstruction, and wait for the quiet moment, which always comes, at the crossing? Everywhere people hurry without need, getting into a state of nervous tension when leaving theaters, boarding omnibuses, going to lunch, and especially when leaving for a holiday.

Bird's Home Instinct.

Spectators at a fire witnessed an interesting, if tragic, example of the actions of a bird which was guided only by the instinct that its home was in danger. The flames had begun to creep along the edge of the tower and every shingle on the roof was puffing a little jet of flame, when down wheeled a pigeon which had been dislodged from the tower and lit in the midst of the fire and smoke. Picking its way along, utter oblivious to the flames that must have been singeing its feathers, the pigeon went straight for its nest. A tongue of flame leaped out and the pigeon soared into the air. Then, as if irresistibly drawn into it, the bird dived into the furnace beneath and disappeared from sight.—Pasadena News.

Fortunate Pribiloff Islanders.

A curious and interesting people are the Pribiloff Islanders in Bering sea. When the United States government took over the islands, along with Alaska, the Russian colonists became in a measure wards of the nation, but they have remained true to the influence to which they were first subjected, and in some respects are today more Russian than American at heart. All of them are members of the Russian church, and all of them have Russian names, selected for the most part from among the nobility. The United States government has in this instance been a faithful guardian of a primitive people. The result is that today they are the most highly civilized, best clothed, best fed, and most healthy of all the natives of Alaska.

Home Influence on Writing.

Environment has been held responsible for many human frailties, but it is only lately that it has had to shoulder the blame for poor handwriting. "Even more than temperament and copy books environment influences a child's handwriting," said a handwriting expert. "If he sees a fashionable writing or a clear business hand on tables and desks at home he will imitate that unconsciously. If only an uneducated scrawl meets him there, he, too, will scrawl, let his instruction at school be ever so thorough."

It's better to drive one horse and stay in the seat than to drive a four-in-hand and be spilled in the ditch.

Big Sales—Frequent Shipments Explain Wonderful Freshness of French Market Coffee!

No grocer can buy too large a stock of this coffee. As a matter of fact, no dealer "keeps" French Market Coffee, but sells it at once and, because of the wonderful demand for this coffee and the frequent shipments he receives, his stock is always fresh. That's why you are always sure French Market Coffee is the freshest and finest flavored coffee any dealer sells.

There is never any chance of your getting old coffee if you avoid imitations by insisting on having the genuine French Market Coffee.

Sometimes your dealer will try to sell you slow-selling coffees, grown old and flavorless from standing on the shelves. Protect yourself—insist on having the genuine French Market Coffee.

The Story of the Old French Market and Its Wonderful Coffee

The old French Market, in New Orleans, has been there for over 100 years. It is a long, low building with open sides, filled with stalls, from which are sold meats, vegetables, dry goods and miscellaneous articles. It is typically French for, even now, English is hardly spoken there, for the buyers, like the sellers, are mostly of French, Spanish or Creole descent.

Scattered through the building are little counters, at which coffee and lunch are sold at almost any hour of the day or night. Even before Spain sold Louisiana to France, when coffee as a beverage was unknown in many parts of America, French coffee, in all its exquisite perfection, was served at the old French Market; no stranger ever visited New Orleans without sipping this marvelous blend. Andrew Jackson and his victorious soldiers camped near the Market for rest and refreshment. The pirate, La Fitte, came there; Henry Clay was entertained near-by at the old Hotel Royal; while, during the war, thousands of soldiers passing through New Orleans, drank French Market Coffee, and spread its fame throughout America.

Not until the invention of a remarkable hermetically sealed can and the establishment of the French Market Mills, equipped with special machinery, could this wonderful blend be shipped, with all its delightful flavor retained, outside the city. Today the wonderful machinery in the French Market Mills reproduces exactly the famous roast and blend, and as a consequence French Market Coffee has become the National Drink of the South.

The ships on which the choicest growth of coffees come to America are unloaded directly at the docks at the French Market Mills, avoiding transportation in freight cars in cold climates. This makes a great difference in flavor. And the old secret process of roasting and blending, though taking longer than that of ordinary mills, produces an exquisite flavor entirely different from that of ordinary coffees.

The completion of the French Market Mills—and the shipping of this wonderful blend throughout the South—has been recognized everywhere as one of the greatest commercial achievements in many years.

Dear Amy:—

I didn't think I needed any furniture, but I got an invitation from the leading reliable furniture store in town to "just come in and look around."

I went, and was so tempted by the beautiful, serviceable, new things, I saw, that I bought a whole wagon load.

The prices were so reasonable and the things so pretty that I just couldn't help it. I got a nice, new, little chair for Baby John; he's so destructive.

KNEW THE CODE HIMSELF

Former Telegrapher Corrected the Error of Two Young Men in a Memphis Hotel.

One whose ear has been trained to read intelligently the click of a telegraph instrument sometimes puts this training to the test under strange conditions. An instance, which resulted in embarrassment, apologies, and finally in a pleasant acquaintanceship among the persons concerned, is told by a certain Ohio farmer who spent his early years in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company.

Some years after impaired health had driven him from the telegraph office to the farm, he and his wife were spending a short vacation in the south. While they were dining in a hotel in Memphis two young men entered and seated themselves at the same table with the couple from the west.

After a survey of the strangers, one of the youths took up his fork, and tapping it in an apparently careless way against the edge of his plate, spelled out in the Morse code:

"Do you think they are bride and groom?"

"Yes, surely," tapped his companion. "Just watch how soft they are."

Immediately, to the dismay of the young men, the fork of the supposed bridegroom joined in the conversation. With great rapidity it tapped out:

"Gentlemen, you are mistaken. We have been married five years, and have three children."—Youth's Companion.

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

MRS. J. IMHOF, of 321 S. Bentalou Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Smart-Weed. I never had a well day before I took your medicines. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 102 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."

Bell Telephone Bulletins

7—THE SUBSCRIBER'S IMPORTANT PART

The subscriber plays an important part in the business of giving telephone service. If the telephone is not used properly, if the subscriber believes he cannot secure good service under any circumstances and if proper consideration is not shown the operator, our difficulties are greatly increased. Fortunately for us, there are very few subscribers of that kind in this city. Most of our subscribers are co-operating with us in our efforts to give quick and accurate service.

In order to secure efficient service at all times several things are necessary on the part of the subscriber. When your telephone bell rings the call should be answered promptly, otherwise the calling party may grow impatient and leave the telephone and you will think the operator has rung your telephone without necessity. Then the receiver should not be left off the hook. When this occurs your telephone is reported busy or out of order. In the case of a party line it puts two telephones out of commission.

In calling a number you should speak distinctly and where there is a prefix or a letter in the number you should also repeat these to the operator.

If you are calling in haste we ask you to note the time and not feel that seconds are minutes and that we are neglecting your telephone.

If you let your neighbors and friends use your telephone indiscriminately your station is likely to be reported busy when you are not personally using it. When your telephone is in use, by you or by a non-subscriber, no one can call you, the busy report being given to calling parties. These are small matters, but they are important to us and to you.

GOTHAM'S SCHOOL NEEDS

Father Knickerbocker Faces Serious Problem—Crackers and Milk a Danger—Cat-Killing — Immunity from Burglars

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Sept. 7.—The opening of the public schools in this city this week has brought Father Knickerbocker face to face with the fact that the lack of educational facilities here has reached such a point that the pupils who cannot receive proper accommodation now number a large total than the entire population of any except the fifty largest cities as shown by the last census.

More than 85,000 children it is now apparent, will have to get along with part-time education and it is possible that this number may exceed the 100,000 mark, thus making the number which cannot be properly cared for about equal to the entire population of Albany. The school population of this city is now the largest in the world and is rapidly approaching the 1,000,000 mark. Every Fall shows an increasing difficulty in providing adequate educational facilities in spite of the most strenuous efforts, but the situation as it exists this year has brought home in a particularly startling manner a realization of the need of more schools and teachers. With nearly 100,000 youngsters who cannot be properly accommodated, the city is confronted by a most difficult problem. That a situation under which potential pupils equal to the population of the State capital cannot be properly accommodated can continue seems incredible, but the fact remains that the number has been increasing for years. About the only persons who derive any satisfaction from this state of affairs are the youngsters who find their hours of study cut down to the envy of hundreds of thousands of pupils who have to put in regular time.

That milk tippling is one of the most risky indulgences incident to New York life seems to be borne out by a report just submitted to the Health Department by the city milk committee in which it is stated that over two hundred thousand persons a day are served with milk fit only for cooking or manufacturing purposes. The investigation upon which this statement was based included nine first-class hotels, seventy-seven restaurants, one hundred and twenty-five lunch rooms and nineteen soda water fountains, having a total daily estimated patronage of 230,000 persons. The disturbing feature of the situation is found in the fact that the examination included many places in the business and shopping districts of Manhattan and Brooklyn with the resulting discovery that well groomed restaurants are by no means certain dispensaries of good milk. In fact of six high-class hotels but four passed satisfactory tests and bacteriological examination showed that in the dining room of one was being served a grade of milk commonly dispensed at the corner grocery of the tenement districts. In some of the cheaper lunch rooms the noontime lacteal beverage consists of a few gallons of fresh milk mixed with a solution made from canned milk, the resultant concoction being served at a temperature so low as to disguise its taste. Just how serious is the imposition upon the milk drinker may be judged from the fact that a bacteriological examination of 905 samples established for the whole an average rating of but 35.2 per cent. The lowest standard considered fit for drinking purposes is 75 per cent, or milk containing not more than 100,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter. The report of the milk investigation is arousing much interest as contrary to popular impression milk is by far the most important drink in the lunch rooms and restaurants in the congested business sections, patronized by hundreds of thousands of business men and women.

Whether or not a cat must be killed nine times to be considered legally dead is the question which now confronts the Court of Special Sessions, the Magistrates' Court having dodged the issue upon its first presentation. The vexed question arose through the tumble of a pet cat from a high window to the hard pavement below. A witness to the accident claimed that the cat was deliberately shoved out and having related to a sympathetic policeman the harrowing details of the incident brought about the arrest of the feline's owner on a charge of attempted cat murder. Unfortunately the body of the victim was left inert upon the pavement when the prisoner was taken to court. Upon the discovery that the corpus delicti must be established to prove the crime, a hasty return was made to the scene for the cat's body. Mollie, the cat, had disappeared and only after a long search was found alive and happy in the apartment whence she had fallen or been pushed to her supposed death. However, the policeman swore that he had seen a dead cat upon the sidewalk and claimed that he ought to know a dead cat when he saw one. His earnestness caused the harrassed magistrate to pass the case along and hence the question of how often a cat must be killed to be legally dead is still in abeyance pending the opinion of the learned Court of Special Sessions.

Within a radius of thirty blocks of the great Queensboro Bridge spanning the East river, the chief topic of conversation at present is the extraordinary success of an attempt on part of the district housewives to supply the family table by purchasing from the producers direct. After a period of discouragement during which was accomplished the task of getting farmers and populace together for mutually satisfactory barter, the "market without a middlemen" is daily besieged by customers. The neighborhood surrounded the housewives market is not a prosperous one and patrons display a catholic taste in receptacles to carry away high-grade low cost corn, potatoes, cauliflower, string beans or what not. Old suit cases, pillow slips, boxes and baby carriages are indiscriminately used and up to eleven o'clock the scene beneath the big bridge has something the appearance of a riot. The sale of farm products that of fish has just been added. On the first fish day five tons of fish were sold as fast as they could be handed out. Sea bass, porgies of butter-fish fresh from the water went for 10 cents a pound, with fluke at 8 cents. Of farm products prize qualities of canteloupes sell for 3 cents; watermelons fetch 35 cents, tomatoes five cents a quart; and grapes 12 cents a basket. While the East Side affords lower prices, it is to be remembered that the highest priced fancy store in New York has nothing for sale in the way of vegetables superior to the stock of the new market. It is this face which has brought about its popularity.

The astonishing discovery has been made that there exists in New York a block of houses, residences all and well filled with luxurious equipment, which is wholly safe from molestation by members of the underworld, be their aliases or influence what they may. This oasis of safety in the Bronx at 190th street owes its immunity to the fact that it shelters five police sergeants and three policemen. Burglar insurance men even shun this block conceding that the moral influence of so much concentration of the majesty of the law is sufficent to discourage even a New York burglar. "Policemen's Row the block is called and, perhaps for the purpose of mutual protection, others of the rank and file of the Department are eagerly awaiting a chance to secure houses. Their chances are not of the brightest, however, since civilians fortunate enough to be domiciled on the one safe block in New York are slow to move. So great is the feeling of security that door locks are stiff and rusted from disuse and inclemency of the weather is the sole cause for a closed window.

SEEMED TO NEED A DOCTOR

Varied Ailments of the Somewhat Afflicted Family as Catalogued by the Mother.

"Yes, Doc," said the mother of a family of nine to the young doctor who had ridden 16 miles into the backwoods in the dead of night, "we are a somewhat afflicted fam'ly, an', as home doctorin' don't seem to do no good, I thought I'd send for you an' see if you could straighten us out. Janey here, she's got something wrong with her bronical tubes so she don't breathe like she should. I been keepin' a rag spread with goose grease an' sprinkled with red pepper an' mustard on her front chist, but it seems to add to her ag'ny. Jake, he's got a mis'ry all up an' down his spinal bone, an' I been usin' ker-sene both external an' internal; but it ain't done him no good. Lizzie Belle, she's about ready to give up with plumbago, an' her sister Nancy has been feelin' mean for a week. I think that it's skiatic roomatiz that ails Nancy, but she's afraid it's the new disease they calls appendeshetus. The old man has been turrible slimsy for some days, an' Rube, our oldest boy, is all broke out with a rash that shows his blood ain't all right. He had a turrible spell las' night, an' I thought he was in for cholery infantum. He's had it off an' on ever since he was 16 years old. I reckoned he'd outgrown it, but it grabs him as hard now that he's 24 as it did when he was younger. Wisht, Doc, that you'd just turn yourself loose an' see if you kin sort o' straighten us out."—Judge.

Remarkable Popular Ignorance.

Some one has remarked that at the height of Napoleon's fame there were men in the back alleys of Paris who had never heard his name. This illustration of popular ignorance was recalled by a judge who was examining candidates for citizenship in New York city recently. He asked one of these prospective citizens, "Who is the head of your native country?" "The king." "Who becomes the head when he dies?" "His son." "And who is the head of this country?" "The president." "And who would become the head if he died?" "His son." And yet, as the judge remarked, all these men know enough to earn their daily bread—the rest is a matter of schooling.

In a small part of a South Carolina swamp represented on the second floor of the American Museum of Natural History is included a snake group among the logs, vines and water hyacinths. The group shows side by side poisonous snakes, the water moccasin, and the non-poisonous, the brown water snake.

An example of the deadly moccasin water snake of the south is made from a wax cast by James C. Bell, with color work by Frederick H. Stoll. It is extremely lifelike and realistic, quite enough to give the visitor an acquaintance with the species.
